Lake Superior Pollution Scored

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Interior Walter J. Hickel urged the Army Engineers Friday to make Reserve Mining Co. take steps against water pollution as a condition of keeping its permit to dump tailings into Lake Superior.

Dumping 20 Years

Reserve Mining has been dumping the tailings into the lake at Silver Bay, Minnesota, for more than 20 years.

But a recent Lake Superior Enforcement Conference concluded there was "presumptive evidence" that the discharges could endanger human health or welfare and were harming the lake.

In a letter to Lt. Gen. Frederick J. Clarke, chief of engineers, Hickel recommended that the company be given a three-year revalidation of its dumping permit subject to certain conditions.

He urged requirements that the company modify its discharge system to make sure the tailings stay inside a three-mile square specified in the original permit, and that the company adhere to the enforcement conference recommendations and the pollution abatement schedule under the federal Water Pollution Control Act.

The permit should be revoked if the company does not comply with those requirements, Hickel said.

The Corps of Engineers has authority to grant or deny dumping permits under its authority to protect navigation on the nation's waterways.

Since 1967, it has had an agreement with the Interior Department, to take into account as well the effects of dumping upon the environment.

Knox was sentenced to 90 days in jail on the high misdemeanor. He was in jail awaiting trial on several charges, including armed robbery, possession of narcotics and possession of concealed weapons.

No Immunity For Russ 'Spy'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Russian arrested in Seattle last week on spy charges "was engaged in unlawful acts outside his official capacity and duties as a U.N. secretariat employee" and therefore is not protected by diplomatic immunity, the State Department says.

Aleksandr V. Tikhomirov, a Soviet employee of the U.N. in New York who faces a charge of "conspiracy to commit espionage" had only functional immunity, the United States told the Soviet government, it was announced Friday.

"There is no international agreement or U.S. domestic law under which he would have immunity from the consequences of his illegal acts," State Department press officer Carl Barth said.

The Soviet Union had protested Tikhomirov's arrest last Saturday. The formal protests were received at the United Nations and in Washington.

U.S. Planes Reported Aiding Laotian Troops

SAIGON (AP) — Scores of American fighter-bombers are flying direct combat support for Laotian government ground troops under attack by North Vietnamese forces around the Plain of Jars, informed sources in Saigon said today.

The sources said the missions originate at a half-dozen bases in Thailand, and implied that some planes may be using the Da Nang Air Base in South Vietnam and U.S. 7th Fleet carriers in the Tonkin Gulf.

Direct Support

The stepped-up air effort in direct support of Laotian ground troops will not detract from the 300 to 400 sorties a day being flown against the Ho Chi Minh trail network, the source said. Bombing sorties are being flown around the clock to meet the requirements of both missions.

Although President Nixon said last fall that American bombers are attempting to "interdict" the movement of North Vietnamese troops and supplies down the Ho Chi Minh trail, the United States has never publicly admitted that its planes fly direct combat support for Laotian forces.

8 Outposts Captured

Sources said North Vietnamese troops had captured at least eight outposts around the junction of Route 7 and Route 71 near Nong Pet at the northeastern edge of the Plain of Jars.

"These are strongpoints on the hills that overlook the roads," said one source. "They are the controlling elements for getting onto the plain by road. The North Vietnamese have captured most of them, but they still do not have unrestricted access."

Heavy Casualties

Sources said North Vietnamese forces had suffered "heavy casualties," including 76 troops killed in one battle. These sources, sympathetic to the Laotian government, described the losses of Lao government forces as "light."

The U.S. Embassy in Laos reported that the long-expected North Vietnamese offensive in the Plain of Jars area had begun.

3-Month Operation

"I think the enemy will put on more pressure," said one source. "This looks like a three-month operation."

The source indicated that government forces would not attempt to hold the Plain of Jars, but would fight orderly delaying actions and try to inflict heavy casualties on the North Vietnamese. "We are going to make it difficult for the enemy," he added. "We are not just going to walk away from it."

Withdrawal Nixed

Prince Souvanna Phouma, the Laotian premier, proposed last week that North Vietnamese troops withdraw from the plain in return for a "hands off" attitude by the government toward the Ho Chi Minh trail.

But North Vietnam rejected the proposal, calling Laotian and U.S. claims that there are more than 50,000 North Vietnamese troops in Laos "slandering allegations."

As the train hurtled toward the van, eight of the youngsters inside jumped for their lives and were saved.

The eight who couldn't get out all died Friday night as the train carried the demolished van, one mile down the tracks, officials said.

when the train hit," said one of the survivors, Scott House, 18, of nearby Lathrop. "Others were doing the same thing. Eight of us made it. Eight didn't."

The youngsters were just out "riding around," they said, picking up others until they had 16 jammed into a van normally holding perhaps eight or 10 persons, officers said.

The accident occurred six miles south of Stockton near Manteca on the main highway to Yosemite National Park.

Most of the boys and girls were from Tracy, 60 miles east of San Francisco. They were headed east when the northbound Western Pacific freight hit the stalled van as the young people struggled to get out.

Two unidentified girls were found dead where they had been huddled from the vehicle by the impact.

Flu Outbreak Hits 45 States

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Outbreaks of influenza and flu-like illnesses have been reported in 45 states but health officials say the number of cases is small compared to those reported last winter.

A survey by the National Communicable Disease Center here shows what officials say is considerably more influenza activity than was expected. However, the report says that a leveling off trend is evident throughout the country.

The center says that in comparison with last year, the current influenza seems more localized, with large urban centers such as New York City, Detroit and Los Angeles spared, in contrast to the city outbreaks of last winter.

During the week ending Feb. 7, a total of 780 deaths attributed to influenza and pneumonia were reported in 122 sample cities used in the center's weekly mortality statement.

SAIGON (AP) — Viet Cong troops ambushed two U.S. Navy minesweepers, killing one American and wounding six, the U.S. Command reported today. The ambush took place on the Rach Giang Thanh River a mile east of the Cambodian border and 145 miles west of Saigon. The Navy said damage to the minesweepers was "minor."

Battlefield communiques for the past 24 hours indicated that South Vietnamese forces bore the brunt of the fighting, mostly in the Mekong Delta south of Saigon.

South Vietnamese losses were one man killed and 41 wounded. Government headquarters also reported that 260 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops from the 88th Regiment were killed in a week-long operation in the Plain of Reeds along the Cambodian border west of Saigon. Sources said more than 20 South Vietnamese soldiers were killed and more than 40 wounded.

The U.S. Command said there were 18 enemy rocket and mortar attacks during the 24-hour period ending at 8 a.m. today. It said six caused casualties or damage and two Americans were wounded.

A government spokesman said enemy troops fired rocket grenades and machine guns into a populated area in the western Delta, killing four civilians and wounding three others.

GOP Aide Says:

Nation's Economy In Painful Decline

WASHINGTON (AP) — Industrial production and factory wages dropped last month, supplying two signs that the nation's economy is slowing down under Nixon administration policies.

Inflation Fight On

Paul W. McCracken, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, said the economy is going through a painful decline as the administration tries to combat inflation.

The Federal Reserve Board said Friday the industrial production index for the first month of 1970 totaled 168.9 per cent of the 1957-59 base period average, down from 171.1 per cent for December.

Decline Continues

It was the sixth consecutive month of decline for the industrial production rate and it marked the first time since the recession of 1960 that the index had dropped through a full half year.

McCracken would not predict how long the economic slowdown would continue nor when the inflationary trend will be curtailed. But he said the administration will not lose control of the economy.

Slowdown Reasonable

Speaking at the University of Maryland Friday, McCracken said the slowdown in the various sectors of the economy was reasonable to expect based on Nixon administration policies started a year ago.

While industrial production and factory payrolls dipped, a third economic indicator showed some growth last month. The Commerce Department reported the seasonally adjusted figure for personal income was $773 billion, up from $770.6 billion in December.

However, even though the monthly increase has averaged $3 billion since September, it is down from a $5 billion average for the first eight months of 1969.

Foreign Policy Report Readied

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (AP) — President Nixon has completed work on an extensive foreign policy report he will send to Congress Wednesday.

Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said that on Friday Nixon went over final drafts of his first annual "State of the World" report. The document is more than 100 pages long.

Most of the work on the report was completed before Nixon flew here Wednesday night for a cloudy, coolish weekend holiday. Although Dr. Henry A. Kissinger, his assistant for national security affairs, came along, final work on the report did not require a face-to-face meeting. Nixon and Kissinger conferred by telephone.

Ziegler said the innovative review would go into all aspects of American policy affecting global relations at the outset of the new decade.

Lenore Ready To Unseat Hart In U.S. Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lenore Romney, who was an active campaigner for her husband during his state and national races, has made it known to Michigan Republicans that she may be ready to start her own political career as a candidate for the U.S. Senate.

The wife of George Romney, said Friday she would like to be considered as a possible candidate for the Senate in her home state.

She made that decision, Mrs. Romney wrote on a questionnaire returned to Michigan Gov. William Milliken, "because many party members think my candidacy is necessary to unify the party."

The questionnaires were sent by Michigan Republicans to 26 possible candidates after a session in which they indicated they wanted a consensus candidate to oppose Democratic Sen. Philip A. Hart this fall.

Hart, reached Friday in Detroit, said: "I am sure that the Republicans will nominate a strong candidate. I, as a Democrat, do not think it wise to comment any further on their (the Republicans) family discussions."

"Certainly Mrs. Romney, who is an intelligent and attractive woman, would be a strong candidate."

Romney also received a questionnaire. "I am not a candidate and in light of known circumstances, I would not reconsider," he replied.

If she does run against Hart, the tiny, vivacious Mrs. Romney, 60, will be no novice on the campaign trail, although it would be her first try for public office.

Theory, Practice Used In Program Of Timber, Inc.

NEWBERRY — An application of theory and field practice is being used by Upper Great Lakes Timber, Inc. in its efforts to upgrade Michigan forest industry.

A council of Cooperators, full-time producers whose annual output of pulpwood is between 70,000 and 90,000 cords and who are working with managers of Timber, Inc., has been formed to make their operations available for research and analysis.

Working with Timber, Inc. are: Robert Smith, Pickford; Ed Graves, Munising; Arvo Lahti, Newberry; Lawrence Tuttle, Germfask; Dave Petkus, Rudyard; Dennis Salo, Eben; Marcel Seymour, Rapid River; K & K Manufacturing, Rock; Leo Levellie, Cooks; Luke Bros., Michigamme; Delongchamp Bros., Ishpeming; Don Casperson, Escanaba; Joe Brinson, Chatham; Gannon Lumber Co., Marquette.

Field Laboratories
Not all cooperators will be the scene of all program features, but the variety of locations, logging systems, equipment and forest conditions will permit managers of Timber, Inc., Peter Grieves, Newberry, and William Henriksen, Marquette, to find an operational field laboratory for each factor in the over-all program.

These operators represent a wide range of operations from conventional shortwood to tree-length logging systems, the whole variety of tree species adaptable to pulp manufacturing, and an equally wide range of mechanical equipment that will make for practical testing of all new logging systems under consideration.

The managers are interested in the kind of mechanized operations best adaptable to a range of species and topography; analysis of operational methods to eliminate overlap of labor or multiple handling; methods of skidding, analysis of costs; availability of new markets and stability of existing markets plus opportunities for developing and merchandising new woods products.

Accounting Change
Another feature which will be used on some operations will be TELEWOOD accounting, which is computerized accounting service developed by Michigan State University. Those who wish to use this service will be able to get a breakdown on all his costs so that he can determine where his costs are out of line. It is expected to pin point the problem areas that exist in the financial end of harvesting forest products.

Through operational testing of equipment on the Cooperators operations, Grieves and Henriksen expect to be able to demonstrate mechanized operations that will best serve a logger's particular needs as he expands to satisfy the anticipated rapid increase in market demand.

Lundquist Hired To Forestry Job
Ralph Lundquist, a native of Escanaba, has been employed by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources as a Forestry Technician and is assigned to the Grand Sable State Forest.

Lundquist attend the Escanaba public schools and Bay de Noc Community College. He was employed by the Michigan State Highway Department for six years and with the Delta County Road Commission for one year before his present employment.

He is married to the former Karen Kline of Ford River.

A LARGE TANK TRUCK rests on its side in the snow alongside U.S. 2 about four miles east of Rapid River. The driver of the vehicle, William Rogers of Gladstone, told State Police that he was pulling over to change a flat tire when the wheels on the right side dropped into the ditch and the truck rolled over. Rogers escaped injury in the mishap. Another tank truck was brought to the scene to draw off the wrecked tanker's fuel oil load prior to righting. (Daily Press Photo)

Religious Topics To Be Discussed

"Prepare for the future—extend your education" is the theme of the new Adult Christian Education Program scheduled to begin at Holy Name High School Monday at 7:30 p.m.

A series of six lectures on timely religious topics will be presented by the sisters of the area on every Monday of Lent.

There is no fee and "everyone is invited," according to the coordinators of the program, Sister Michael Mary of St. Joseph Parish and Fr. Wayne Marcotte of Holy Name High School.

The Monday meeting will feature a talk on "Religious Education" by Sisters Arlene and Carol of St. Ann Parish. After touching on the aims and methods of contemporary religious education, the meeting will be thrown open to questions and discussion from the floor.

The other five topics, chosen as a result of an earlier balloting in the parishes, will be "Changes in the Mass," "Christian Principles in Daily Living," "Formation of Conscience," "The New Morality," and "The Church of Vatican II."

District Court

Robert Brisco, 1506 Minneapolis Ave., Gladstone was found guilty recently in District Court to a charge of larceny less than $100. Judge Dean Shipman sentenced Brisco to 15 days in the Delta County jail and ordered him to pay $35 costs and a judgment fee of $3.

They hold no grudges. After all, the last time they met, Deana Martin was 1 year old and Gary Lewis was 5.

Now, with blessings from their famous fathers—Dean and Jerry—they're starting with other famous offspring in a Las Vegas-bound review titled "The Name's the Same."

Old Journal Details Famous Expedition

John D. Voelker of Ishpeming, noted novelist and former Michigan Supreme Court justice, has brought to light a 130-year-old journal of a famous Lake Superior expedition, which was published for the first time this week.

"North to Lake Superior," a lively journal written in 1840 by Charles W. Penny of Detroit, a member of the Douglass Houghton expedition, has been published by the John M. Longyear Research Library of Marquette. The journal is edited by James L. Carter, Marquette, and Ernest H. Rankin, now living in Deming, N. M.

Voelker, who publishes under the pen name of Robert Traver, has written a foreword for the book. He was given the original Penny journal recently by Gregory Harrier of Berkeley, Calif., Penny's grandson.

Voelker called the journal "A real historical scoop," and, feeling it was "... far too valuable a document" to keep, presented it to the Marquette County Historical Society's Longyear Research Library.

Penny was a 28-year-old merchant and friend of Houghton when he went on the expedition with the famous state geologist during the summer of 1840. Copper discoveries made on the Keweenaw Peninsula during the trip helped spur wide speculation and the first mineral rush in the United States soon began.

Penny later moved to Jackson where he was in business 45 years, and finally resided in Ann Arbor where he died in 1892.

Carter is with Northern Michigan University, which co-operated in the journal's publication, and Rankin was until recently the executive secretary of the Marquette County Historical Society. Both men have a longstanding interest in Great Lakes history.

NMU Students Join Teach-In On Environment

MARQUETTE — Students at Northern Michigan University will join thousands of others on college campuses across the nation in a nationwide Environmental Teach-In April 22.

Special programs for that day, designed and planned by the students, will take the form of symposiums, panel discussions, addresses, film showings, outdoor rallies and other activities — all aimed at stressing the crisis of the environment.

The Teach-In at Northern will provide an opportunity for the university, industry and other interested groups and organizations, community residents and officials, to get together to discuss mutually shared environmental problems.

The Teach-In idea was given initial support by Senators Gaylord Nelson (D-Wis.) and Paul McCloskey (R-Calif.) last November, and has spread rapidly throughout the nation's campuses. Students and faculty members at Northern have been planning the NMU Teach-In since early December.

The program at Northern will not disrupt any of the normal campus activities, and scheduled classes will not be called off for the Teach-In.

One of the main aims of the Teach-In will be an upgrading of the quality of life through the restoration of the environment, and that to accomplish this, the same priority and money be given to environmental cleanup as has been given to national defense.

The planning for Northern's Teach-In is under the supervision of an executive committee comprised of Henry Campbell, student government president from Grosse Pointe Farms; John Thomas, East Lansing, and Robert Tippet, Harbor Springs, NMU students; Dr. John Hughes, Dr. William Robinson and Dr. Robert Dornquist from the faculty; and James L. Carter, a member of the administrative staff.

State Penalizes Liquor Licensees

Charges have been dismissed on two counts and fines were ordered in a third violation of a Gladstone bar licensee, the Michigan Liquor Control Commission reported today.

Ralph B. and Lenore M. Sullivan of Sully's Bar, 17 N. 9th St., Gladstone, had charges of selling to a minor and minor consuming dismissed. The hearings on the charges were held in Escanaba on Jan. 29.

A charge of having the premises occupied after the legal hour, however, brought a Commission order for the Sullivans to pay a fine of $50.

Other dispositions: Gerald and Lois Godfrey, Lincoln House, 602 Superior, Gladstone, selling spirits on Sunday — $100 fine.

Alice M. Perras, Blue Front Hotel and Restaurant, Nadeau, selling spirits for take out after the legal hour — $100 fine.

State Timber Receipts Climb

State Foresters report receiving $50,057 from the sale of timber from 305 active timber permits in the Upper Peninsula during January, a 37 per cent increase over the $36,386 received during January, 1969.

Forestry District I (which represents both the Baraga and Crystal Falls Districts) reported $12,007.00 from 188 active timber permits; District III (Escanaba District) reported $23,626.00 from 107 active timber permits, and likewise District IV (Newberry District) received $14,424.00 from 60 active permits.

State Foresters in the Upper Peninsula also report having issued 46 new timber permits involving over 3,500 acres of land with an estimated timber value of $53,318.00.

Timber markets are good in the Baraga-Crystal Falls Forestry District, foresters said, noting that more hardwood has been reported sold from the Iron Range State Forest in Iron County than has been sold there for a number of years. The spruce and balsam pulpwood market is also picking up in the Baraga State Forest, whereas the demand for hardwood pulpwood is down.

The balsam, spruce, and aspen pulpwood market and the cedar market in the Escanaba area remains good.

The Newberry District reports a fair market for spruce, balsam, and tamarack and a good market prevails for jack and red pine pulpwood. The winter market for hemlock pulpwood has slowed down. The demand remains high for hardwood logs, with a fair demand for white and red pine and hemlock logs. The market for cedar woods products remains fairly good.

Mrs. Arletta Brazee, who directs the Senior Citizens Center in Norway, will explain the functioning of the Norway Center and assist in setting up a program in Hermansville if an interest is shown in this project.

Coffee and refreshments will be served and all senior citizens in the surrounding communities are urged to attend.

Jr. Snowmobile Race Scheduled

GREEN BAY — Plans are being finalized for Green Bay's first Junior World Championship snowmobile race to be held Feb. 28 at the Brown County fairgrounds.

The USSA-sanctioned event will feature the best young drivers — ages 12 to 18 — from all parts of the United States and Canada.

Until this year, the Junior World Championship race was held at Eagle River. Green Bay snowmobile enthusiasts said they petitioned the USSA for the race because of the city's central geographic location, and because the city is a hub for numerous winter sports activities.

many stories to exchange, so many great stories about when our dads were together... She doesn't hold a grudge or anything," referring to the onetime comedy team's bitter-at-the-time parting in 1957 for solo careers.

Cast members say they have found instant empathy with each other—although most had never met.

"Everyone thinks stars' children associate with each other," says pert blonde Patti Grayson, whose father is entertainer Johnny Johnston. "I didn't know anyone here except Francesca. Our mothers were friends and we went to each other's birthday parties."

Some who followed their parents into show business found their names a handicap. Pretty, personable Maureen Reagan, said that when she embarked on a singing career she had a double handicap with her father a former actor and current California governor.

"I gave up when casting directors wanted to discuss the economic condition of the state and whether their taxes were too high, but didn't want to give me a job," she said.

Maureen, 29, switched to politics. She runs an agency—M. R. Consultants—which handles political campaigns, Republican only. She is returning to show business only for the Las Vegas review.

Producer Stanley Seiden hopes the review will blossom into a television special, a record album and maybe a Broadway show.

State Foresters report receiving $50,057 from the sale of timber from 305 active timber permits in the Upper Peninsula during January, a 37 per cent increase over the $36,386 received during January, 1969.

Forestry District I (which represents both the Baraga and Crystal Falls Districts) reported $12,007.00 from 138 active timber permits; District III (Escanaba District) reported $23,626.00 from 107 active timber permits, and likewise District IV (Newberry District) received $14,424.00 from 60 active permits.

State Foresters in the Upper Peninsula also report having issued 46 new timber permits involving over 3,500 acres of land with an estimated timber value of $53,316.00.

Timber markets are good in the Baraga-Crystal Falls Forestry District, foresters said, noting that more hardwood has been reported sold from the Iron Range State Forest in Iron County than has been sold there for a number of years. The spruce and balsam pulpwood market is also picking up in the Baraga State Forest, whereas the demand for hardwood pulpwood is down.

The balsam, spruce, and aspen pulpwood market and the cedar market in the Escanaba area remains good.

The Newberry District reports a fair market for spruce, balsam, and tamarack and a good market prevails for jack and red pine pulpwood. The winter market for hemlock pulpwood has slowed down. The demand remains high for hardwood logs, with a fair demand for white and red pine and hemlock logs. The market for cedar woods products remains fairly good.

Nasser Hailed At Huge Rally; Calm Prevails

CAIRO (AP) — Hundreds of thousands of Egyptians hailed President Gamal Abdel Nasser at a rally Friday, but the mood in Cairo seemed calm despite the fact that a riot had killed 70 factory workers.

A rally made it difficult to assess the mood of the people, but one striking exception was the mass outpouring at noon around the 1,000-year-old Azhar Mosque near Cairo's bazaar quarter.

Thousands gathered to cheer Nasser, Libya's revolutionary leader Col. Muammar Kadafi and Sudan's Premier Jaafar Numeiri as they arrived waving and smiling in an open car to attend a Moslem prayer service.

The three leaders seem to have been almost constant companions since the Arab summit last December as they continue discussion on the alliance they are forming.

The crowds screaming "Nasser, Nasser" cast doubt on the validity of diplomats' predictions that Nasser would lose some of the immense power and prestige he holds in Egypt and the Arab world as a result of the Israeli raids.

Waving banners that said "Revenge, Revenge" or "down with American-Israeli collaboration," the crowds were noisy and emotional, at times verging on the hysterical, but they seemed well under the control of heavily armed police.

Palmgren Derouin, Escanaba Fire Chief, will be the guest speaker at a retirement party honoring Herman Palmgren, Thursday Feb. 19, at 8 p. m. in the Bark River Legion Hall. Edwin Bergman, Bark River Township supervisor, will present the retirement badge.

Since 1924 Palmgren has been a fireman since 1924 when the Bark River Volunteer Fire Department was organized and has been fire chief since 1939. Mrs. Palmgren took care of all telephone calls until the fire apparatus returned to the fire station. Sometimes a second fire call came in and Mrs. Palmgren would dispatch the second unit of men.

Lansing School Closed Friday By Race Unrest

LANSING (AP) — Lansing Sexton High School shut down shortly after noon Friday after an observance of National Negro History Week resulted in isolated incidents of fights, reportedly between black and white students.

School Principal Joseph Rousseau ordered the closing after conferring with Lansing Supt. Stephen A. Partington.

Officials also ordered that no spectators be allowed in to the scheduled Friday night basketball game between Lansing Sexton and Kalamazoo Central.

Observers reported "considerable tension" at the school throughout the week, and, they said, there had been some threat that white students would boycott the Friday morning assembly relating to Negro History Week.

No boycott materialized. Some 76 per cent of Sexton's 2,000-pupil population is white.

Indictment Ruled Out Against One In Gaming Probe

DETROIT (AP) — U. S. District Judge Theodore Levin recently dismissed a gambling charge against one of 15 persons arrested in what authorities called a nationwide gambling probe.

The judge dismissed the indictment against Fritz Lindstrom of Phoenix, Ariz., at the request of special federal prosecutor James Ritchie.

Ritchie, who heads a special task force to investigate organized crime, said that Lindstrom was not the "type of person we want to make a defendant in the case."

Ritchie said Lindstrom was not a bookmaker, like some of the other persons are alleged to be.

The federal attorney said that although Lindstrom does not expect to testify before a grand jury, he has indicated he would, if needed, testify at a trial.

A grand jury probe into the case continues in Detroit.

Oil Slicks Hitting Every Coastline

By The Associated Press
Oil from an 18-square-mile slick that a grounded tanker dumped in Old Tampa Bay spread today onto islands that are the homes of sea birds and shellfish.

Tides and winds held the mass of sludge away from Florida's tourist beaches and waterfront homes, however, while a skimmer barge worked to sweep the oil up and crews with floating plastic booms worked to contain it.

On the Canadian coast, a similar tanker mishap threatened a fish plant.

Off Louisiana, fear of shoreline pollution from an oil well burning out of control eased.

Cleanup crews battled through the night to clean up the Florida slick in the bay which separates Tampa and St. Petersburg.

But, Coast Guard Lt. (j.g.) Robert Leggat said "They have had some oil going ashore on the Weedon Island area which is basically an undeveloped area consisting mainly of mangrove swamps and small islands."

Lt. R. C. Guess of the Florida Marine Resources Department said, "There's a lot of birds and shellfish in there, and they can be hurt very bad by an oil slick."

The barge and boom crews hoped to contain the sludge long enough to ready detergents that would break the oil into particles and send it to the bay bottom.

But the oil was killing waterfowl Friday, a few hours after a gash in the side of a Greek tanker spilled it into Old Tampa Bay.

Ducks, pelicans and other sea birds landed on the oil-covered water then flopped about frantically trying to fly away. Some didn't make it and after a few hours they slipped beneath the surface.

The captain of the tanker Delian Apolon was ordered arrested Friday on charges of creating an industrial hazard. The 619-foot ship struck the edge of a ship channel in the bay about

Veteran Carrier Ready To 'Retire'

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — The aircraft carrier Kearsarge, which plucked pioneer American astronauts from the Pacific, is retired at the age of 23.

Eight hundred crewmen and 300 guests stood by Friday as the 41,000-ton flattop was decommissioned and readied for towing to join a mothball fleet in San Diego.

The Kearsarge, one of the first United States carriers outfitted to handle jet planes, launched 6,000 air attacks during the Korean War.

In the early '60s it was the recovery ship for the orbiting Sigma 7 and Faith 7 spacecraft which carried Wally Schirra and Gordon Cooper.

Budget cuts dictated the Kearsarge's retirement, said the ship's 22nd skipper, Capt. Leonard Nearman.

Two miles from the dock where it was to disgorge oil to fire boilers in an electrical generating plant. A rupture in the hull released the oil.

Officials did not know immediately how much oil was lost.

Infant Dies In Manistique Blaze

MANISTIQUE — A five-month-old Manistique Township infant died today in an early morning fire which completely destroyed the family home. Her mother and sister were severely burned and are in the intensive care unit of the Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital.

Dead is Peggy McAlpine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel McAlpine.

Mrs. Pat McAlpine and another daughter, two-year-old April, were able to escape from the burning home, located about ten miles northeast of Manistique on the Merwin Creek Camp road. Officers said Mrs. McAlpine went to a neighbor's home to report the fire as she had no telephone.

Mr. Alpine was not at home when the fire broke out. Manistique public safety firemen said they received the fire call at 12:50 a.m. and immediately sent city and county fire trucks to the scene. Cause of the blaze has not been determined, firemen said.

Temperatures in the area hovered around 25 degrees below zero at the time of the fire.

Nasser Hailed At Huge Rally; Calm Prevails

CAIRO (AP) — Hundreds of thousands of Egyptians hailed President Gamal Abdel Nasser at a rally Friday, but the mood in Cairo seemed calm despite the fact that he had killed 70 factory workers.

Ahmed Ali said half a million participated in the demonstration, much of Cairo resembled a Western city enjoying a Sunday afternoon because Friday is a most Moslem country is the Sabbath.

Traffic was light, hundreds strolled along the sunny banks of the Nile while others window shopped, crowded into cinemas or lunched at sidewalk cafes.

There was talk, of course, of the Israeli attack on the metal factory 17 miles north of the downtown area Thursday. Officials said the attack resulted in the heaviest toll of civilian casualties since the 1967 war.

The holiday made it difficult to assess the mood of the people, but one striking exception was the mass outpouring at noon around the 1,000-year-old Azhar Mosque near Cairo's bazaar quarter.

Thousands gathered to cheer Nasser, Libya's revolutionary leader Col. Muammar Kadafi and Sudan's Premier Jaafar Numeiri as they arrived waving and smiling in an open car to attend a Moslem prayer service.

Algiers Trial Prosecution Rests Its Case

FLINT, Mich. (AP) — The prosecution rested its case Friday in the Algiers Motel federal conspiracy trial of three suspended Detroit policemen and a private guard.

The defendants are accused of conspiring to violate the civil rights of eight Negro youths and two white women who were in the Algiers Motel the night of July 26, 1967 at the peak of Detroit's riot.

Three of the Negro youths were found shot to death in motel rooms.

The government called a total of 39 witnesses and concluded its case Friday with the reading of a sworn deposition from Detroit Police Lt. Gerald Hallmark, who was with the Detroit homicide bureau at the time of the incident, was unable to testify in person because of illness.

Hallmark said that he took statements from two of the defendants, suspended Patrolmen Ronald August and Robert Paille, about their roles in the incident.

Some time after taking August's statement, Hallmark said, August came and asked if he could change it. Asked why, August said he had killed a man at the motel, Hallmark said.

Hallmark said that Robert Paille, another suspended patrolman on trial, came and said he also would like to revise his statement to say he killed a man.

A statement made by a third defendant, suspended Patrolman David Senak, was ruled inadmissible by U.S. District Judge Stephen Roth because he said it was taken in violation of Senak's rights.

The fourth defendant is Melvin Dismukes, a Negro private guard. All three suspended officers are white.

LANSING (AP) — The State Public Service Commission will hold public hearings next month on the proposed closing of two railroad freight stations.

A hearing will be held at Kalamazoo March 3 on a proposal by the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad to close the station at Kalamazoo and transfer operations to Manistee.

A second hearing will be held March 11 at Ontonagon on a proposal by the Chicago, St. Paul and Pacific Railroad to discontinue freight operations at Mass and transfer them to Ontonagon.

The council also donated $100 to Project Hope in support of the hospital ship S.S. Hope, reported Fredric Juma, president of the student body.

The Bark River Volunteer Fire Department was organized when Helmer Bruce was supervisor, with the late Perry Bergman, president and John Anderson, secretary.

Other charter members were: Frank Romaine, John Rheume, Theodore Nelson, Alfred Neilson, Lawrence Lessard, Leo Knauf, Martin Kwarciany, Alfred Dahlin, I. R. Nelson, Ralph Sundquist, Lawrence Bruce, Simon McDermott, Bert Erickson, Oten Brisbane, Henry Boyle, Ivan Sundquist, William Boyle, Lawrence Erickson, John Lane, John Gauthier, Roy Bergman, Alfred Anderson, Clarence Kleiman, Ray Kobereski and Al E. Johnson.

Early Equipment Early equipment was a 20 horsepower portable pump that was carried by hand or on a pickup and later mounted on a Model T and kept in Johnson's Garage; a 50 gallon chemical tank mounted on buggy wheels that was kept in Rheume's Livery Stable and 1,600 feet of hose.

Two wells were dug for water supply: one near the Ronald Hurtbese home and the other between Ken's Service Station and the Culvert factory.

Fire Chief Palmgren joined the Michigan Fire Chief Association about 1948 and the first meeting he attended was hosted by Fire Chief William Sporr of Menominee. Mr. and Mrs. Palmgren attended all State Fire Chief meetings until 1967. He served as president of the Upper Peninsula Fire Chiefs Association about 1953 and still attends the U. P. meetings.

"Up the River" At a meeting in Grand Rapids, Palmgren was referred to as the chief from, "up the river," because the chairman could not remember Bark River.

"I have tried to the best of my ability," said Palmgren, "to serve the people of Bark River Township and all townships and cities when they were in need of our help. I have served under supervisors, Helmer Bruce, Emmanuel Daignault, Omer Tonguay and Edwin Bergman."

Reminiscing Herman related, "I recall on Easter Sunday we answered a fire call to the Carl Stenberg home about 1 p. m. I had on a new Easter suit as we had just come home from church services. We fought the house fire until about 10 p. m. before we had the fire out. We were pumping through 700 feet of 1½ inch hose from a creek. Needless to say the new suit was a total loss."

Improved Equipment

There has been quite an improvement in the department's equipment since the early days. Equipment now includes a six wheel drive fire truck with a 2,000 gallon water tank plus portable tanks; an F8-1962 Ford pumper, ladders, rescuator, coats, hats and boots for the firemen and a fire hall to house all equipment under one roof.

Arrangements for the party are being made by the committee: Leo Knauf, James Anderson and Frank Adams. The public is invited and lunch and refreshments will be served.

The Future, Too?

That was an interesting exchange the other night at a meeting called by the Board of Supervisors to discuss the proposed Air Pollution Control Ordinance for Delta County.

Before the debate was over, the struggle appeared to have reverted to where it started nearly a year ago — The Delta County Citizens Committee to Save Our Air vs. the Delta County Board of Supervisors and the Mead Corp.

It should be pointed out that Mead Corp. was not represented at the meeting, but by virtue of the plans to begin construction of a kraft process pulp mill at its Escanaba division this spring provided much of the basis for argument. Without the Mead Corp. plans, it is doubtful that any of the local furor over clean air would have developed at this time, despite the national emphasis on pollution. Unless there is what the courts have come to label as "clear and present danger" the concerns often lie dormant.

But, meanwhile back at the County Building, John Walbridge of the Save Our Air committee and Frank Stupak of the Board of Supervisors were going at it. They got so far apart on one point that Prosecuting Attorney John Beauchamp had to suggest they skip the issue at question and move on to another part of the ordinance so the entire meeting didn't collapse.

Scraping away the surface dirt from the exchange between SOA and the Board of Supervisors, the debate boils down to a single question:

Is Delta County going to pass and attempt to enforce an air pollution ordinance with standards stronger than those already on the books of the State of Michigan?

The feeling of the Board of Supervisors, if Wednesday night's meeting is any criteria, is "No, Delta County isn't going to pass such an ordinance, even if it is legal, which we seriously doubt in the first place."

The feeling of the Save Our Air Committee is that unless Delta County does pass a stronger ordinance, the whole effort will be wasted. The state ordinance is ineffective, Walbridge argued, and although written just a couple of years ago it already is out-of-date. The committee also questions whether or not Delta County, which now has one of the cleanest atmospheric environments in the nation, should be willing to settle for a state law which doesn't protect present standards. "Look at the Chicago & North Western situation," they argue.

The Board of Supervisors counters with the claim that the state laws and standards are sufficient to protect the environment, but that the state doesn't have enough people to do the job. Under the local ordinance, a nine-member Air Pollution Control Commission will be established in Delta County to keep tabs on the local situation. The enforcement powers locally would be strengthened by the inclusion of the five-year limit on variances, a feature which is not a part of the state law.

While the Board of Supervisors may honestly feel that its course of action is correct, it is difficult in this case not to lean toward the conservationist approach of the Save Our Air group. In the long haul, it may even turn out to be the cheapest approach for industry.

Generally speaking, it is much less expensive to install air and water pollution control equipment as a facility is being constructed, rather than come back five or 10 years later and attempt to make modifications. Generally speaking, control equipment also functions more effectively if included as an integral part of a facility's design.

Considering that state and federal standards have been getting stiffer and stiffer, isn't it possible that the Congress or the State Legislature in five or 10 years might even go beyond the present "tough" or "model" ordinance proposed in Delta County by the SOA group. And if that's the case, where would industry or individuals stand then? Might not an industry be faced with greater costs then, than now?

Look at what is happening in the automobile industry. Today's anti-pollution standards, which a few years ago didn't exist, will be strengthened in 1973 and again in 1975.

And so when considering an air pollution or water pollution control ordinance, Delta County must look beyond today.

Will the future be served, too?

If January is any indication of what traffic and revenues on the Mackinac Bridge will be during the 1970's, then "we can look forward to an accelerated payoff of bridge indebtedness." Prentiss M. Brown, bridge authority chairman, said in revealing that the month's traffic was up 28.2 per cent over a year ago. Bridge indebtedness has been reduced by more than 13 million dollars — from $99,800,000 to $86,144,000 — since bond retirement began in 1965, according to Brown. The increase in traffic from 39,351 in January, 1968, to 50,429 last month was the fourth largest monthly percentage increase ever recorded at the Straits span.

Quality Recreation Land Most Sought By Forest

By JEAN WORTH
Of Panax Newspapers

The growth of the Hiawatha National Forest to provide recreational areas was described by Alfred Troutt, supervisor of the forest, to directors of Forum On Resources of Upper Michigan at the forest headquarters in Escanaba.

FORUM directors asked for the meeting to learn more of plans by the U. S. Forest Service to acquire lands, especially in Delta County, where the Hiawatha Forest now owns 70 per cent of the land in Nahma Township, and where the federal and state forest lands constitute 77 per cent of the total acreage in Garden Township.

FORUM is an industry-oriented group which studies development of Upper Peninsula resources and has expressed concern over the shrinking tax base, the threat to schools and the possible threat to future wood supply of industry if state and federal governments continue acquisitions of U. P. forest lands, especially if the government forests change management policies.

Policy Fixed
Present policy on the federal forests, fixed by law, is to manage them for multiple use—that is, to provide timber for industry and recreation for the public. There is no fixed policy of management on state forests.

Bruce Buell of Chassell, chairman of FORUM, said "Industry looks to a timber supply and wants to consider government as a reliable source of supply. FORUM has no quarrel with government ownership of forest lands—we think it is desirable and legitimate, but we think that it should be kept in balance" (with private ownership).

Federal Funds
Troutt told the foresters of FORUM that the Hiawatha Forest has been allotted federal funds to be used to acquire recreational lands for the forest. Troutt said a program of purchases is underway but there is no intention of acquiring all of the lands within the boundary of the forest, nor all the recreational lands in the area, nor even all of the lands offered.

Where under the Weeks Act of 1911, federal forests could acquire land only for watershed protection and timber production, under the 1965 Land & Water Conservation Act, the Forest Service qualifies—as do the states—for federal funds to purchase lands for recreational use. Grants to the states under this act give them authority to use the funds not only for acquisition of recreational lands, but also for development.

Allotted $58,000
For fiscal 1970, the Hiawatha was allotted $58,000 under the L&WCF Act to purchase lands with recreational potential. Funds for the development of lands so acquired have not been made available through regular appropriation, however. But the Hiawatha has been tentatively budgeted $940,000 for pollution control in fiscal 1971, three times the current year's appropriation for this work. It will be used chiefly for sewage treatment to meet President Nixon's order that all federal establishments must meet the highest anti-pollution standards by 1972.

Quality recreation land for public use not available to the Forest Service in years past is most sought in the current program, said Troutt. Early land acquisitions were low value forest lands which needed rehabilitation; much of it had reverted to the State for non-payment of taxes.

Two Go Private
Troutt said that of three tracts in Stonington sought by the Hiawatha since 1967 only one was actually purchased; the other two — "both highly desirable for public recreation areas"—were sold to private purchasers and subdivided; "we couldn't meet the asking price."

"During the past 10 years," said Troutt, "we have purchased less than 8,000 acres within the Hiawatha National Forest, or less than one per cent of the forest, which now contains $49,000 acres."

"I think that our acquisition plan is going to slow down to almost nothing, even if money is available, because the lands needed for public use are not available. We don't want to acquire them all. We are still going to use our lands for timber production, but on areas with high recreational potential, management direction will be modified."

Acreages Vary
Troutt said that in the past five years the Hiawatha had processed 47 land acquisition cases involving about 7,000 acres; an average of 169 acres per case. Individual acquisitions varied in size from less than an acre to one of 1,323 acres. An action supporting this program the Nature Conservancy (with Ford Fund credit) also purchased 3,215 acres of land in Nahma Township along the Sturgeon River from Warren Miller for $175,000 for conveyance to the Hiawatha Forest.

Acquisitions of over 500 acres each included the Lake Superior & Ishpeming Railroad tract of 506 acres on the Stonington Peninsula across from Gladstone (made surplus by the railroad by abandonment of its ore dock project at Sterling Harbor); the DeGrave tract of 794 acres 10 miles north of Rapid River, including the Birch Farm area for sharp-tail grouse and sandhill cranes; the MacGill & Gibbs tract of 546 acres, including Lake 16 on the Stonington Peninsula; the Slater tract of 840 acres, including Duck Lake in the Big-Sea-Water National Forest Recreation Area in Chippewa County; the Lockwood tract of 689 acres, mostly open area in Mackinac County which has acquired special potential because it is at the mouth of the Carp River on Lake Huron and the river has been planted with coho salmon; and a Mead Corp. tract of 782 acres 15 miles south of Munising.

Chicago Lake
The forest also acquired from Warren Miller a 1,323 acre tract off Forest Highway 13 including Chicago Lake. Troutt reported U. S. Forest Service inability to pay the asking price on some lands sought for the forest, and an industrial forest is paying as much as $5 per acre in taxes on some of its land. It was explained that there can be no profit in commercial forestry under such a tax burden.

"There is a lot more account on environmental quality," said Troutt "and our acquisition is tied to this."

When an industrial forest suggested that Michigan Department of Natural Resources game biologists "wouldn't let you plant another pine tree if they had their way," Troutt replied, "They've got a point! We can do more for the timber industry and for wildlife with natural regeneration and timber stand improvement practices." (Pine is passe as a quick crop species and also to create wildlife habitat.)

Wildlife Benefit
But the dependency of the government forests upon commercial cutting of wood for industry in their wildlife management was stressed by Troutt, who said, "We get a $4 million benefit to wildlife yearly on the Hiawatha Forest from our commercial timber program. If we had no timber program it would cost us that much to get the same benefits for our forest wildlife" (in feed, forest regeneration, etc.).

He said that the Hiawatha would increase its allowable cut (timber ready for harvest at maturity) of sawtimber from 6 million board feet at present to 8 million board feet a year in 2,000, an increase of 1,300 per cent. "Our basic problem," he said "is one of transition."

No one could possibly memorize the correct way of dealing with each and every one of the myriads of card combinations that can arise at the table to plague a declarer.

Fortunately, the answer to practically all such problems can be figured out at the table. Simple logic will provide the solution in virtually every case.

Here is the kind of situation that sometimes arises. West leads a spade against six hearts. Declarer must obviously finesse, but, when he plays dummy's jack, it loses to the king and East returns a spade to the ace.

South must now avoid a trump loser to make the contract. There is no good reason to delay drawing trumps, so he leads one from dummy, planning to finesse.

However, he must be careful about choosing which heart to lead from dummy. The proper play is the deuce, not the ten. This is because East may have the singleton king and the ten play would create a trump trick for West if that were the case.

When South leads the deuce and wins with the jack, marking East with the king, he must then return to dummy to repeat the finesse. He therefore plays a low diamond to the jack and leads another heart.

But this time South must play the ten from dummy, not the five. There is a sound reason for this also. The reason is that the trumps may be divided 4-1 instead of the more usual 3-2, and allowance must be made for this possibility.

Once South leads the ten he makes the contract whether or not East decides to cover. But if South makes the mistake of leading the five from dummy and finessing the queen, he must sooner or later lose a trump trick to East's K-9 and go down one.

The Future, Too?

That was an interesting exchange the other night at a meeting called by the Board of Supervisors to discuss the proposed Air Pollution Control Ordinance for Delta County.

Before the debate was over, the struggle appeared to have reverted to where it started nearly a year ago — The Delta County Citizens Committee to Save Our Air vs. the Delta County Board of Supervisors and the Mead Corp.

It should be pointed out that Mead Corp. was not represented at the meeting, but by virtue of the plans to begin construction of a kraft process pulp mill at its Escanaba division this spring provided much of the basis for argument. Without the Mead Corp. plans, it is doubtful that any of the local furor over clean air would have developed at this time, despite the national emphasis on pollution. Unless there is what the courts have come to label as "clear and present danger" the concerns often lie dormant.

But, meanwhile back at the County Building, John Walbridge of the Save Our Air committee and Frank Stupak of the Board of Supervisors were going at it. They got so far apart on one point that Prosecuting Attorney John Beauchamp had to suggest they skip the issue at question and move on to another part of the ordinance so the entire meeting didn't collapse.

Scraping away the surface dirt from the exchange between SOA and the Board of Supervisors, the debate boils down to a single question:

Is Delta County going to pass and attempt to enforce an air pollution ordinance with standards stronger than those already on the books of the State of Michigan?

The feeling of the Board of Supervisors, if Wednesday night's meeting is any criteria, is "No, Delta County isn't going to pass such an ordinance, even if it is legal, which we seriously doubt in the first place."

The feeling of the Save Our Air Committee is that unless Delta County does pass a stronger ordinance, the whole effort will be wasted. The state ordinance is ineffective, Walbridge argued, and although written just a couple of years ago it already is out-of-date. The committee also questions whether or not Delta County, which now has one of the cleanest atmospheric environments in the nation, should be willing to settle for a state law which doesn't protect present standards. "Look at the Chicago & North Western situation," they argue.

The Board of Supervisors counters with the claim that the state laws and standards are sufficient to protect the environment, but that the state doesn't have enough people to do the job. Under the local ordinance, a nine-member Air Pollution Control Commission will be established in Delta County to keep tabs on the local situation. The enforcement powers locally would be strengthened by the inclusion of the five-year limit on variances, a feature which is not a part of the state law.

While the Board of Supervisors may honestly feel that its course of action is correct, it is difficult in this case not to lean toward the conservationist approach of the Save Our Air group. In the long haul, it may even turn out to be the cheapest approach for industry.

Generally speaking, it is much less expensive to install air and water pollution control equipment as a facility is being constructed, rather than come back five or 10 years later and attempt to make modifications. Generally speaking, control equipment also functions more effectively if included as an integral part of a facility's design.

Considering that state and federal standards have been getting stiffer and stiffer, isn't it possible that the Congress or the State Legislature in five or 10 years might even go beyond the present "tough" or "model" ordinance proposed in Delta County by the SOA group. And if that's the case, where would industry or individuals stand then? Might not an industry be faced with greater costs then, than now?

Look at what is happening in the automobile industry. Today's anti-pollution standards, which a few years ago didn't exist, will be strengthened in 1973 and again in 1975.

And so when considering an air pollution or water pollution control ordinance, Delta County must look beyond today.

Will the future be served, too?

Quality Recreation Land Most Sought By Forest

By JEAN WORTH
Of Panax Newspapers

The growth of the Hiawatha National Forest to provide recreational areas was described by Alfred Troutt, supervisor of the forest, to directors of Forum On Resources of Upper Michigan at the forest headquarters in Escanaba.

FORUM directors asked for the meeting to learn more of plans by the U. S. Forest Service to acquire lands, especially in Delta County, where the Hiawatha Forest now owns 70 per cent of the land in Nahma Township, and where the federal and state forest lands constitute 77 per cent of the total acreage in Garden Township.

FORUM is an industry-oriented group which studies development of Upper Peninsula resources and has expressed concern over the shrinking tax base, the threat to schools and the possible threat to future wood supply of industry if state and federal governments continue acquisitions of U. P. forest lands, especially if the government forests change management policies.

Policy Fixed

Present policy on the federal forests, fixed by law, is to manage them for multiple use—that is, to provide timber for industry and recreation for the public. There is no fixed policy of management on state forests.

Bruce Buell of Chassell, chairman of FORUM, said "Industry looks to a timber supply and wants to consider government as a reliable source of supply. FORUM has no quarrel with government ownership of forest lands—we think it is desirable and legitimate, but we think that it should be kept in balance" (with private ownership).

Federal Funds

Troutt told the foresters of FORUM that the Hiawatha Forest has been allotted federal funds to be used to acquire recreational lands for the forest. Troutt said a program of purchases is underway but there is no intention of acquiring all of the lands within the boundary of the forest, nor all the recreational lands in the area, nor even all of the lands offered.

Where under the Weeks Act of 1911, federal forests could acquire land only for watershed protection and timber production, under the 1965 Land & Water Conservation Act, the Forest Service qualifies—as do the states—for federal funds to purchase lands for recreational usage. Grants to the states under this act give them authority to use the funds not only for acquisition of recreational lands, but also for development.

Allotted $58,000

For fiscal 1970, the Hiawatha was allotted $58,000 under the L&WCF Act to purchase lands with recreational potential. Funds for the development of lands so acquired have not been made available through regular appropriation, however. But the Hiawatha has been tentatively budgeted $940,000 for pollution control in fiscal 1971, three times the current year's appropriation for this work. It will be used chiefly for sewage treatment to meet President Nixon's order that all federal establishments must meet the highest anti-pollution standards by 1972.

Quality recreation land for public use not available to the Forest Service in years past is most sought in the current program, said Troutt. Early land acquisitions were low value forest lands which needed rehabilitation; much of it had reverted to the State for non-payment of taxes.

Two Go Private

Troutt said that of three tracts in Stonington sought by the Hiawatha since 1967 only one was actually purchased; the other two — "both highly desirable for public recreation areas"—were sold to private purchasers and subdivided; "we couldn't meet the asking price."

"During the past 10 years," said Troutt, "we have purchased less than 8,000 acres within the Hiawatha National Forest, or less than one per cent of the forest, which now contains 849,000 acres."

"I think that our acquisition plan is going to slow down to almost nothing, even if money is available, because the lands needed for public use are not available. We don't want to acquire them all. We are still going to use our lands for timber production, but on areas with high recreational potential, management direction will be modified."

Acreages Vary

Troutt said that in the past five years the Hiawatha had processed 47 land acquisition cases involving about 7,000 acres; an average of 169 acres per case. Individual acquisitions varied in size from less than an acre to one of 1,323 acres. In action supporting this program the Nature Conservancy (with Ford Fund credit) also purchased 3,215 acres of land in Nahma Township along the Sturgeon River from Warren Miller for $175,000 for conveyance to the Hiawatha Forest.

Acquisitions of over 500 acres each included the Lake Superior & Ishpeming Railroad tract of 506 acres on the Stonington Peninsula across from Gladstone (made surplus for the railroad by abandonment of its ore dock project at Sterling Harbor); the DeGrave tract of 794 acres 10 miles north of Rapid River, including the Birch Farm area for sharpshin grouse and sandhill cranes; the MacGillis & Gibbs tract of 546 acres, including Lake 16 on the Stonington Peninsula; the Slater tract of 840 acres, including Duck Lake in the Big-Sea-Water National Forest Recreation Area in Chippewa County; the Lockwood tract of 689 acres, mostly open area in Mackinac County which has acquired special potential because it is at the mouth of the Carp River on Lake Huron and the river has been planted with coho salmon; and a Mead Corp. tract of 762 acres 15 miles south of Munising.

Chicago Lake

The forest also acquired from Warren Miller a 1,323 acre tract off Forest Highway 13 including Chicago Lake.

Troutt reported U. S. Forest Service inability to pay the asking price on some lands sought for the forest, and an industrial forest is paying as much as $5 per acre in taxes on some of its land. It was explained that there can be no profit in commercial forestry under such a tax burden.

"There is a lot more accent on environmental quality," said Troutt "and our acquisition is tied to this."

When an industrial forester suggested that Michigan Department of Natural Resources game biologists "wouldn't let you plant another pine tree if they had their way," Troutt replied, "They've got a point! We can do more for the timber industry and for wildlife with natural regeneration and timber stand improvement practices." (Pine is passe as a quick crop species and also to create wildlife habitat.)

Wildlife Benefit

But the dependency of the government forests upon commercial cutting of wood for industry in their wildlife management was stressed by Troutt, who said, "We get a $4 million benefit to wildlife yearly from the Hiawatha Forest from our commercial timber program. If we had no timber program it would cost us that much to get the same benefits for our forest wildlife" (in feed, forest regeneration, etc.).

He said that the Hiawatha would increase its allowable cut (timber ready for harvest at maturity) of sawtimber from 6 million board feet at present to 84 million board feet a year in 2,000, an increase of 1,300 per cent. "Our basic problem," he said "is one of transition."

Give her every break, but explain she'll have to grow up or no dice.

Dear Ann Landers: My dear friend reads your column every day. If she sees this she'll recognize herself — I hope.

Mrs. N. is civic minded, charming and has a heart of gold — but she is a pack rat. I exaggerate not when I say the newspapers in her living room date back to 1964. They line the walls in stacks five feet high. One can't find a place to sit down because newspapers are on every chair. Her bedroom is so cluttered I don't know how she finds the bed at night. She keeps saying, "One day I must go through these papers and clip items for special friends." I just hope the place doesn't go up in flames before she gets around to it. Please, Ann, print this letter. Mrs. N.'s good friends worry about her. — Oxnard, Calif.

Dear Ox: Here's the letter and don't take a chance on Mrs. N. seeing it. Mail it to her. She might pile today's paper with the others. In the meantime, why don't you call the fire chief? He might ORDER her to get rid of the papers — and save her life.

Dear Ann Landers: My fiancé has a habit of hitting an object with his fist when he loses his temper. Donald is 23 — old enough to know better.

Last week Don dented the car door and sprained his wrist when he punched the dashboard. Last night we had an argument and he hit the living room wall with his fist. I'm betting he'll have a sore hand tomorrow.

Why would a person intentionally inflict physical damage on himself? What can I do about it? — Modesto, Calif.

New Minnesota City Proposed

WASHINGTON (AP) — A planned community near Minneapolis has been designated as the first to receive assistance under the federal program to stimulate development of new cities.

Secretary of Housing George Romney announced that the Jonathan Development Corp. will receive a federal guarantee of up to $21 million for the cost of acquiring and developing land for the project near Chaska, Minn.

The planned community named Jonathan, about 20 miles southwest of Minneapolis, is to house approximately 50,000 people in 20 years.

The idea of new cities is to relieve racial, social and population pressures on existing cities by creating new communities in outlying areas.

Jonathan will be integrated both socially and racially and will have approximately one-tenth of its 5,000 housing units reserved for low income families.

Henry T. McKnight, president of Jonathan Development and a Minnesota state senator, said plans for the new community will preserve and enhance the rolling hills, wooded areas, creeks and lakes on the site.

Plans call for five residential villages, with school, shopping and civic facilities linked by a network of roads, walkways and open spaces.

Each village will have a population up to 7,000. Another 10,000 will be located near the town center in high-density units and 5,000 in a nearby learning center.

Within each village, there will be a center for shopping, required municipal services, a medical clinic and a post office. Five industries have already located in Jonathan, which was started in 1968.

Boy Dies In Hit-And-Run

IRON RIVER—A nine-year-old Iron River boy was apparently killed instantly when he was struck by a hit-and-run vehicle here about 9:30 p.m. Friday.

Dead is Thomas J. Anderson. Police later took into custody the driver of the car that allegedly hit the boy, and are currently conferring with the county prosecutor as to what charges will be made, it was reported.

'Virginian' Gets Back Stolen $200, Still Needs Gun

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — James Drury, star of "The Virginian" series on television, wants his fans to know he got back $200 stolen from him and has been promised a replacement for his stolen gun.

Drury gave this account: Appearing at a boat show in Columbia, S.C., Jan. 31, he invited several local businessmen to his hotel suite for a drink. Drury went to sleep in the bedroom. A friend saw a member of the group take two $100 bills from Drury's money clip and his .38-caliber revolver.

Drury contacted police but asked them to defer investigation pending his own. After an all-night search, an intermediary located the thief, who returned the money and promised to replace the gun, which he had thrown in a river.

Drury declined to prosecute. He said he was authorized to carry the revolver as a reserve Los Angeles County deputy sheriff.

Camaro Ready To Challenge '70 Mustang

DETROIT (AP) — Chevrolet zeroed in Friday on the leadership of Ford's Mustang in the small sport car market with the delayed introduction of a longer, wider and lower 1970 Camaro.

The new four-passenger Camaros carry price tags ranging $22 to $23 more than comparable 1969 models, but John Z. DeLores, Chevrolet general manager, said they put General Motors "on the high road to small sport car leadership."

Friday's display was at press previews in Detroit and Ontario, Calif. The first public display of the Camaros and 1970 two-seater Corvettes will be at the Chicago Auto Show next Saturday.

They go on sale in dealerships Feb. 26. Chevrolet's previews and price boost announcement were preceded by a Chrysler Corp. announcement that it was cutting prices on its compact Dodge Dart line by $155 to $190.

Darts, however, are not competitive with Camaros or Mustangs. Chrysler competitors are Dodge Challengers and Plymouth Barracudas.

The new Camaros carry a suggested retail price of $2,749 for the lowest-priced six-cylinder model, and $2,816 for the bottom-of-the-line eight-cylinder car. Mustang's basic prices range from $2,721 to $2,822.

In the 1969 calendar year, Ford sold 263,984 Mustangs compared with Chevrolet's 171,508 Camaros.

Valentine Cheers Up Injured Zacchinis

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — One of the most touching expressions in the world is a heart-felt valentine from a child, says injured circus performer Emanuel Zacchini.

And he has more such valentines than he can hold. The valentines even got a smile from his wife, Linda, who is in traction with a broken neck suffered when she and Zacchini slammed together during their human cannonball act for the Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey Circus Feb. 4.

Zacchini, who is recovering from back injuries, got his own special valentine wish when Linda was released from the hospital's intensive care unit Friday night and placed in a room near his.

"She is barely able to push a button to call a nurse or turn on the television," Zacchini said. "But for all the pain she has had, she smiled when she saw the cute valentines that so many children made and sent."

"I watched you Tuesday night," a girl named Carol wrote on a huge red heart. "You were my favorite act. I love you."

Children at the Parkside School in San Bruno, Calif., sent a massive valentine signed by dozens of pupils. They called themselves "The Great Zacchini Fan Club."

A girl named Marsha sent her love and then asked if sparks come out of the cannon. Fingering the roughly cut colored paper and crudely lettered cardboard, Zacchini said: "I have a new feeling about the circus because of all these valentines and letters from all over North and South America and Europe.

"I've been in the circus all my life and I didn't realize how much everyone enjoys it. The circus is something that makes older people look back with pleasure and the young look forward with hope. To me, it is the last field of clean, wholesome entertainment."

"I enjoy my work I always have. But I'll enjoy it more because all those children told me how much pleasure it gives them."

Murder Plot In Yablonski Case Revealed

NEW YORK (AP) — The FBI has uncovered a plot to murder one of the men charged in the slaying of United Mine Workers insurgent Joseph A. "Joey" Yablonski, the New York Daily News said in today's editions.

The News said that sources close to the investigation reported that unidentified persons planned to smuggle guns into Cleveland's Cuyahoga County Jail and kill Paul E. Gilly, 36.

Gilly, alleged to have been the payoff man in the slayings, has since been transferred to a maximum security cell in a jail at Canton, Ohio, as a result of the FBI information, the story said.

The newspaper said in the story from its Washington bureau that the source said Gilly was to be killed to prevent him from implicating others, presumably those who ordered the slaying of Yablonski.

Gilly, his wife Annette, Claude Vealy and Aubrey W. Martin are charged in federal conspiracy indictments in connection with the New Year's Eve slaying of Yablonski, his wife and their 25-year-old daughter in their Clarksville, Pa., home.

Air-Bag Restraints Seen On 1972 Cars

DETROIT (AP) — Secretary of Transportation John A. Volpe said Friday air-bag restraints may be required in automobiles, in addition to lap and shoulder harnesses, by 1972 or 1973 models.

Volpe also said he had been told by General Motors Corp. that it could begin "most likely by 1972" producing engines operating on lead-free, lower-octane gasoline, if that fuel is found necessary to pollution control.

He took issue with some industry sources which have forecast emission-control devices required to meet 1975 government standards may add as much as 10 per cent to the cost of an automobile.

With today's advancing technology, Volpe said "no one can say with certainty what the cost would be."

Volpe's remarks came at a news conference following two days of what he described as "looking, listening, and learning," in research laboratories and plants of General Motors Corp., Ford Motor Co., and Chrysler Corp.

He said he plans subsequent visits. The auto industry will begin producing 1972 models in the fall of 1971. Safety standards requiring air-bag restraints may be published within 60 to 90 days, Volpe told newsmen.

He added, however, "this doesn't mean they (automakers) would be required to do it tomorrow."

Such restraints would be built into or under the dashboard to inflate instantaneously in event of a crash, cushioning drivers and passengers.

Gasoline without pop-giving tetraethyl lead has been advocated by some as a means of helping the industry further reduce air pollution by automobiles.

In experiments thus far with leaded gasoline, the industry has been unable to develop catalytic devices or thermoreactors (afterburners) which would consume hydrocarbons and carbon monoxide now being exhausted into the atmosphere.

The devices, however, have proved efficient with unleaded gasoline. Lead currently is added to gasoline to raise its octane rating (power level) and today's high compression engines have been built around its use.

Cold Snap Eases After 11 Below

The sub-zero cold wave is easing off a bit in the Escanaba area, the U.S. Weather Bureau reports, and today forecasts that Sunday will show a continuing warming trend.

The low last night was 11 degrees below zero after a high yesterday of 9 above — with the cold causing problems for motorists in starting cars and throwing the automatic controls out of whack at the Escanaba elevated water storage tank.

Francis D'Amour, city water superintendent, said the overflow line in the tank froze up and when pumping was started into the tank this morning it created an overflow onto the ground. The malfunction will be corrected shortly and meanwhile will require manual control.

Despite the bitter cold, however, there have been fewer water service freeze-ups than in an open winter, thanks to the thick covering (the Weather Bureau reports 22 inches) of snow on the ground.

Unofficial temperature readings in the Escanaba area ranged downward to 20 and 25 below zero. Officially it was -11 in Escanaba, -6 in Marquette, and -30 at Pelston in Lower Michigan — the state's ice box.

The Weather Bureau reports the high today in Escanaba will be about 12 above and the low tonight near zero; winds will shift to the south and south-west 10 to 15 miles an hour; and there is a 30 per cent possibility of precipitation on Sunday.

Valentine Cheers Up Injured Zacchinis

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — One of the most touching expressions in the world is a heart-felt valentine from a child, says injured circus performer Emanuel Zacchini.

And he has more such valentines than he can hold.

The valentines even got a smile from his wife, Linda, who is in traction with a broken neck suffered when she and Zacchini slammed together during their human cannonball act for the Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey Circus Feb. 4.

Zacchini, who is recovering from back injuries, got his own special valentine wish when Linda was released from the hospital's intensive care unit Friday night and placed in a room near his.

"She is barely able to push a button to call a nurse or turn on the television," Zacchini said.

"But for all the pain she has had, she smiled when she saw the cute valentines that so many children made and sent," said her mother, Mrs. John Fleck of Milan, Mich.

"I watched you Tuesday night," a girl named Carol wrote on a huge red heart. "You were my favorite act. I love you."

Children at the Parkside School in San Bruno, Calif., sent a massive valentine signed by dozens of pupils. They called themselves "The Great Zacchini Fan Club."

A girl named Marsha sent her love and then asked if sparks come out of the cannon.

Fingering the roughly cut colored paper and crudely lettered cardboard, Zacchini said: "I have a new feeling about the circus because of all these valentines and letters from all over North and South America and Europe."

"I've been in the circus all my life and I didn't realize how much everyone enjoys it."

"The circus is something that makes older people look back with pleasure and the young look forward with hope. To me, it is the last field of clean, wholesome entertainment."

"I enjoy my work I always have. But I'll enjoy it more because all those children told me how much pleasure it gives them."

Murder Plot In Yablonski Case Revealed

NEW YORK (AP) — The FBI has uncovered a plot to murder one of the men charged in the slaying of United Mines Workers insurgent Joseph A. "Jock" Yablonski, the New York Daily News said in today's editions.

The News said that sources close to the investigation reported that unidentified persons planned to smuggle guns into Cleveland's Cuyahoga County Jail and kill Paul E. Gilly, 36.

Gilly, alleged to have been the payoff man in the slayings, has since been transferred to a maximum security cell in a jail at Canton, Ohio, as a result of the FBI information, the story said.

The newspaper said in the story from its Washington bureau that the source said Gilly was to be killed to prevent him from implicating others, presumably those who ordered the slaying of Yablonski.

Gilly, his wife Annette, Claude Vealy and Aubran W. Martin are charged in federal conspiracy indictments in connection with the New Year's Eve slaying of Yablonski, his wife and their 25-year-old daughter in their Clarksville, Pa., home.

ESCANABA SPUR SERVICE
801 Stephenson Ave. — Escanaba

YEAR OF THE DOG finds Marion Kam Yin Lee, 21, reigning as "Miss Chinatown U.S.A." after winning the title in San Francisco for the Chinese New Year. She is a University of Hawaii student, and stacks up at 5-feet-4, 109 pounds, 34-24-35.

More people get more news from newspapers than all other sources combined.

Cold Snap Eases After 11 Below

The sub-zero cold wave is easing off a bit in the Escanaba area, the U.S. Weather Bureau reports, and today forecasts that Sunday will show a continuing warming trend.

The low last night was 11 degrees below zero after a high yesterday of 9 above—with the cold causing problems for motorists in starting cars and throwing the automatic controls out of whack at the Escanaba elevated water storage tank.

Francis D'Amour, city water superintendent, said the overflow line in the tank froze up and when pumping was started into the tank this morning it created an overflow onto the ground. The malfunction will be corrected shortly and meanwhile will require manual control.

Despite the bitter cold, however, there have been fewer water service freeze-ups than in an open winter, thanks to the thick covering (the Weather Bureau reports 22 inches) of snow on the ground.

Unofficial temperature readings in the Escanaba area ranged downward to 20 and 25 below zero. Officially it was -11 in Escanaba, -6 in Marquette, and -30 at Pelston in Lower Michigan — the state's ice box.

The Weather Bureau reports the high today in Escanaba will be about 12 above and the low tonight near zero; winds will shift to the south and southwest 10 to 15 miles an hour; and there is a 30 per cent possibility of precipitation on Sunday.

Notes from Heloise

By HELOISE
A silver wedding anniversary was coming up for some friends of ours and we were short of money.
As the couple are fond of flowers, we decided to give them a "Sterling silver" rose bush bought from a local garden center at a nominal cost.
It was a sensation! They loved it. Every year now it will present them with beautiful Sterling roses at their anniversary time.
How is that for a pinch of originality and a bushel of love?

Mrs. J. R. B.
I think it's absolutely one of the loveliest ideas I ever heard of and one, I'm sure, that my many readers will be borrowing!
We think you deserve a bushel of love, too, for your thoughtfulness.

Dear Heloise:
The handiest little containers can be made from push-up deodorant holders.
I keep bobby pins in one, cotton tips in another, matches for the bathroom heater in still another. The bottoms can just be pushed up or down, making it easy to pick out whatever I want.
I have used nail polish remover to take off the printing on them and have taped appropriate labels of contents around each.

Dear Heloise:
For those students at college: Cover a foam rubber pad for that foot locker and have an extra seat in your dorm room, as well as a storage place for boots, shoes, skates, extra purses, etc.
Girls can add a matching flounce all around.

Dear Heloise:
You know those stretch bands that are so popular for girls?
Well, don't think they can't be used for boys too — baby boys, that is!
You can either use them as is or split them open (especially for a tiny baby) and put the bands over these cute little caps to keep their ears warm.
This is real good when it's raining or cool, or you take them out at night.

NORTHERN MICHIGAN UNIVERSITY'S book store added something special to its Valentine's Day display, though she was quickly reclaimed by her proud father. But, while looking over the cards, she couldn't resist a contented smile, thinking of all of the affection she would receive on the Valentine Days to come, as the constant focus of some male's attention. Check-Cashing Rush Irks State Treasury Dept.
LANSING (AP) — A crush of state employees trying to cash their paychecks most of them apparently during working hours, caused the State Treasury Department to protest Thursday.

An estimated 80 to 100 state workers waited in two long lines to cash their checks before the noon hour.
"We don't usually have a crush like this," said Chief Deputy Treasurer Carroll Newton.
"I do think it was the exception rather than the rule. It was Lincoln's Birthday, of course, and all the banks in town were closed."
"We do think it was unreasonable," Newton said.
He agreed that most of the state employees lining up at two windows in the Treasury Department building of the capital complex were cashing their checks during working hours.
"We called all the major state agencies in Lansing to complain about it," Newton said. "We also pointed out that the Treasury Department has a directive that checks can be cashed by our employees only during coffee breaks, noon hours or other off hours."
Newton said after the series of telephone calls, the lines were not as long Thursday afternoon.

Union Official Says GM To Be UAW's Target
LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The president of a 12,000-member United Auto Workers Union local says he is "confident" General Motors Corp. would be the target if the union struck one of the Big Three auto companies in contract negotiations this year.
"General Motors employees, leadership and membership on the rank-and-file think it's time that we show General Motors they are not too big to take on," said Victor Egres, president of Local 652 of the Lansing Oldsmobile Division.
Egres said also that a "30-and-out" provision should be the No. 1 item in looming contract talks.
The provision, included in a list of suggested union demands, would allow employees to retire after 30 years employment, regardless of age. Retirement benefits would include $500 a month pensions and "maximum protection of social security."
A Local 652 newsletter, reportedly mailed earlier this week to local members, carries the "30-and-out" provision in the list of suggested demands "compiled and edited from the demands of all UAW locals within the industry, GM, Ford and Chrysler."
The list also includes mention of a "year end cash bonus" to provide equity for the workers out of the profits of the company as is now provided for executives.

City Mayor Sees Things Better Now
BENTON HARBOR (AP) — Traffic laws are enforced in Benton Harbor—just ask Mayor Wilbert F. Smith.
The mayor paid a $6 fine and $12 costs this week after being charged with driving without a rear view mirror on the right side of his car as his driver's license requires.
The ticket was issued Jan. 24 after a truck struck the mayor's car from the rear on Main Street in downtown Benton Harbor.
Smith said he didn't realize the restriction had been put on his driving license. A spokesman for the License Bureau said such mirrors are sometimes required to aid side vision.

Check-Cashing Rush Irks State Treasury Dept.

LANSING (AP) — A crush of state employees trying to cash their paychecks most of them apparently during working hours, caused the State Treasury Department to protest Thursday.

An estimated 80 to 100 state workers waited in two long lines to cash their checks before the noon hour.

"We don't usually have a crush like this," said Chief Deputy Treasurer Carroll Newton. "I do think it was the exception rather than the rule. It was Lincoln's Birthday, of course, and all the banks in town were closed."

"We do think it was unreasonable," Newton said.

He agreed that most of the state employees lining up at two windows in the Treasury Department building of the capitol complex were cashing their checks during working hours.

"We called all the major state agencies in Lansing to complain about it," Newton said. "We also pointed out that the Treasury Department has a directive that checks can be cashed by our employees only during coffee breaks, noon hours or other off hours."

Newton said after the series of telephone calls, the lines were not as long Thursday afternoon.

Union Official Says GM To Be UAW's Target

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The president of a 12,000-member United Auto Workers Union local says he is "confident" General Motors Corp. would be the target if the union struck one of the Big Three auto companies in contract negotiations this year.

"General Motors employees, leadership and membership on the rank-and-file think it's time that we show General Motors they are not too big to take on," said Victor Egres, president of Local 652 of the Lansing Oldsmobile Division.

Egres said also that a "30-fund" would "be depleted faster" by a strike involving some 400,000 members than by a strike against Ford Motor Co. or Chrysler Corp. There are some 750,000 UAW members in the auto industry.

"But we've got to prove General Motors is not too big for the UAW to take on," he said.

Egres said also that a "30-and-out" provision should be the No. 1 item in looming contract talks.

The provision, included in a list of suggested union demands, would allow employees to retire after 30 years employment, regardless of age. Retirement benefits would include $500 a month pensions and "maximum protection of social security."

A Local 652 newsletter, reportedly mailed earlier this week to local members, carries the "30-and-out" provision in the list of suggested demands "compiled and edited from the demands of all UAW locals within the industry, GM, Ford and Chrysler."

The list also includes mention of a "year end cash bonus: to provide equity for the workers out of the profits of the company as is now provided for executives."

City Mayor Sees Things Better Now

BENTON HARBOR (AP) — Traffic laws are enforced in Benton Harbor—just ask Mayor Wilbert F. Smith.

The mayor paid a $6 fine and $12 costs this week after being charged with driving without a rear view mirror on the right side of his car as his driver's license requires.

The ticket was issued Jan. 24 after a truck struck the mayor's car from the rear on Main Street in downtown Benton Harbor.

Smith said he didn't realize the restriction had been put on his driving license. A spokesman for the License Bureau said such mirrors are sometimes required to aid side vision.

mos went on to a 96-81 victory, giving them a 6-1 mark in league play and an 8-5 record for the season. The win was Escanaba's fourth straight.

Escanaba started quickly in the opening period, pulling out to a 10-0 lead at the 5:31 mark thanks to some poor ball handling by the Mountaineers which resulted in fast break field goals for the Eskymos.

Lead Mounts
Iron Mountain got on the 11 and eight points respectively.

Escanaba remained hot in the second quarter, but the Mountaineers also started hitting the basket more consistently. It was all Kangas and Bob Gauthier in the early minutes of the period as Escanaba went ahead by a 41-19 margin. Kangas threw in six of the 11 points and Gauthier came through with the rest. Iron Mountain's big gun was Doug Schupp, who wound up scoring 11 of the Mountaineers' 23 points in the quarter.

Eskymos Outscored
The third quarter showed Iron Mountain making its biggest rally of the night, as they outscored the Eskymos by a 25-20 margin and came within 10 points, 68-58, with 1:20 left to play in the frame.

Gauthier and Cousineau each hit two free throws and Kangas added a field goal, however, putting Escanaba ahead 74-59 as the game went into the final eight minutes of play. Another free throw by Gauthier and a three-point play by Kangas put the Eskymos out in front 78-59 in the early going of the final period and the closest Iron Mountain could get after that was 16 points.

Kangas Nets 34
Kangas had another fine night for the Eskymos, tossing in 13 field goals and eight free throws for 34 points to top all scorers in the game. He also helped give the Eskymos a 53-51 edge on the boards with 25 rebounds.

Also hitting in double figures for Escanaba were Gauthier with 22 points and Cousineau with 18. Most of their points came off the fast break, which they ran to perfection all night.

Schupp paced Iron Mountain with 22 points and Bob Hooking helped out with 19.

Escanaba hit on 31 of 75 field goal attempts in the game, while Iron Mountain was 30 of 71. The big edge in the score came at the free throw line, where Escanaba made 34 of 56 attempts and Iron Mountain was 21 of 31.

The Eskymos have three games left on their schedule, all against Great Northern Conference opponents. They meet Holy Name on the Crusaders' floor Tuesday evening before playing host to West Iron County and Menominee on successive Friday nights.

The Escanaba junior varsity also came up with a victory in the preliminary game, upending Iron Mountain 78-54.

West Iron Jolts Holy Name

JOE LAUSCHER of Perkins (31) shoots over Dan Safford of Rapid River in Friday night's Central League clash won by Rapid River 70-66. Lauscher finished with 19 points.

IRON RIVER — The Great Northern Conference basketball championship hopes of the Holy Name Crusaders suffered a severe blow Friday night in a 58-51 upset at the hands of West Iron County.

The loss dropped Holy Name into third place in the league behind Escanaba, which took over first place by beating Iron Mountain, and Menominee, a winner over Kingsford.

Holy Name jumped to a 14-8 lead after the first quarter, but the persistent Wykons evened the game at 28-28 at halftime and, after the teams traded 15 points in the third quarter, finally took control in the final period.

West Iron scored the first two points of the fourth quarter for a 45-43 lead and was never headed, although the Crusaders trimmed a 50-43 deficit to 50-49 with 3:49 to play only to fall back in the final minutes as key turnovers killed any chance to even the game.

Bill Skradski topped the Crusader scoring with 16 points, all on field goals, and Gary Kleiman tossed in 10 points. Ray Palmer authored 16 points and Larry Rizzardi 15 for the Wykons.

Both Joe Harvey and Dan Young fouled out of action. West Iron County connected on 21 of 62 shots from the field, while Holy Name managed only 20 of 64. From the free throw line, the Wykons converted 16 of 23 attempts and the Crusaders sank 11 of 15. Holy Name had a slim 34-33 edge in rebounds with Harvey, the leading rebounder in the league, pulling down 10.

In the preliminary games, Holy Name's junior varsity remained unbeaten with a 63-61 triumph. The loss was West Iron's second of the season, both to Holy Name. The Wykon freshman team posted a 63-53 victory.

The Crusaders return to action Tuesday night, taking on Escanaba at home.

Stay Alive In Title Chase:

Braves Roll By Emeralds

By BILL CADEAU
GLADSTONE — Coach Jack Ingalls' Gladstone Braves stayed in the running for the Great Lakes Conference title Friday night as they trimmed Manistique, 89-59, with the reserves seeing plenty of action throughout.

The Braves triumph was their sixth in the league against two losses, keeping them in range of Marquette (8-2) and

Apelgren and Wayne Marshall teaming up for 20 of the Braves' 25 points and a 17-point lead. Manistique managed only two baskets in the first eight minutes, the first came with 2:34 showing on the clock by replacement Jerry Arnold. The other counter was made by another replacement, Bob Harrison. The other four points came from the charity stripe.

Advantage Doubles
Coach Norm Jahn's Emeralds fared a little better in the second period but again it was

Gladstone's "Big Three," Young Marshall and Apelgren who proved masters of the situation. The trio netted 23 more points for the onrushing Braves.

By intermission, Gladstone had more than doubled its lead, going into the locker room with a big 52-24 bulge. Ingalls was going to his bench midway through the quarter.

The Braves led by 81 points midway through the second period, 43-12 before Jerry Sample and Gary Webber found the range for a couple of two-pointers.

Reserves Take Over

Ingalls started his regulars in the third period but some soon departed as the Braves kept their 30-point lead. Gladstone was content with ball control as each club managed 14 points in the stanza.

After Jerry Erickson hit his first basket in the final quarter, Bob Prins, who had three early fouls and left the game, returned and tallied two straight baskets, giving Gladstone a 72-38 margin early in the final quarter.

Reserves from both clubs played a good share of the last period. John Skellenger had three late points and Pat Cole four as the Braves kept their margin in the 30-range. Kith Aldrich hit six straight free throws for the Emeralds, as they scored 21 points in the last eight minutes, their best quarter of the game.

Gladstone's 23 counters were all made by the reserves.

Young Scores 26

Young topped all scorers with 26 points, 22 coming in the fast-moving first half. Apelgren added 18 and Marshall 12 as the Braves upped their season mark to 7-6.

Arnold came off the bench to lead the Emeralds in scoring, hitting 12 counters.

Gladstone tallied 35 of 75 shots from the field with a torrid first half percentage. Young hit 11 of 25, most of them coming in the first 16 minutes of action. He also led the Braves in clearing the boards, picking off 10 of the team's 55 rebounds.

In a fast preliminary game, Gladstone's 7th Graders edged All Saints 7th graders, 30-25.

The Braves host Newberry Friday and Stephenson Saturday in a weekend doubleheader in their next two outings.

Powers Holds Skyline Lead

The Powers-Spaulding Tigers kept one step ahead of the "hunters" in the race for the Skyline Conference championship by turning back a stubborn National Mine club Friday night, 60-63.

Meanwhile Champion and Republic kept pace by tripping up their opponents in league clashes.

Champion swept past Hermansville, 84-65, and Republic measured Felch, 91-71. In another Skyline contest, Channing got past Pembine 71-59.

The win for Powers keeps the Tigers a half game ahead of Champion. The Tigers are 12-1 and rest stop the heap but the Indians are breathing down their necks with a 12-3 record. Republic still has title hopes with a 10-3 season league log.

Powers took an early 5-2 lead against the Nats only to find themselves trailing at the end of the first session by 19-17 and at halftime by a single point, 32-31.

Smith led the scoring with 27 points while Sharkey was runner-up with 16. Reidy was also in double figures with 14 while Mileski hit 12 points for the night.

Steve Swanson had the best effort for National Mine, ripping the cords for 26 points. Powers goes to Carney Tuesday in another crucial conference test.

Gary Danielson took command for the Champion ball club after high-scoring Larry Laitala was sidetracked by the flu. Danielson hit 36 points in the game as the Indians copped their 12th conference win of the season at home. The Indians held a lead of 45 points at one time in the easy victory over last-place Hermansville.

West Iron Jolts Holy Name

JOE LAUSCHER of Perkins (31) shoots over Dan Safford of Rapid River in Friday night's Central League clash won by Rapid River 70-66. Lauscher finished with 19 points.

IRON RIVER — The Great Northern Conference basketball championship hopes of the Holy Name Crusaders suffered a severe blow Friday night in a 58-51 upset at the hands of West Iron County.

The loss dropped Holy Name into third place in the league behind Escanaba, which took over first place by beating Iron Mountain, and Menominee, a winner over Kingsford.

Holy Name jumped to a 14-8 lead after the first quarter, but the persistent Wykons evened the game at 28-28 at halftime and, after the teams traded 15 points in the third quarter, finally took control in the final period.

West Iron scored the first two points of the fourth quarter for a 45-43 lead and was never headed, although the Crusaders trimmed a 50-43 deficit to 50-49 with 3:49 to play only to fall back in the final minutes as key turnovers killed any chance to even the game.

Bill Skradski topped the Crusader scoring with 16 points, all on field goals, and Gary Kleiman tossed in 10 points. Ray Palmer authored 16 points and Larry Rizzardi 15 for the Wykons.

Both Joe Harvey and Dan Young fouled out of action.

West Iron County connected on 21 of 52 shots from the field, while Holy Name managed only 20 of 64. From the free throw line, the Wykons converted 16 of 23 attempts and the Crusaders sank 11 of 15. Holy Name had a slim 34-33 edge in rebounds with Harvey, the leading rebounder in the league, pulling down 10.

In the preliminary games, Holy Name's junior varsity remained unbeaten with a 63-61 triumph. The loss was West Iron's second of the season, both to Holy Name. The Wykon freshman team posted a 63-53 victory.

The Crusaders return to action Tuesday night, taking on Escanaba at home.

Stay Alive In Title Chase: Braves Roll By Emeralds

By BILL CADEAU

GLADSTONE — Coach Jack Ingalls' Gladstone Braves stayed in the running for the Great Lakes Conference title Friday night as they trimmed Manistique, 89-59, with the reserves seeing plenty of action throughout.

The Braves triumph was their sixth in the league against two losses, keeping them in range of Marquette (8-2) and Ishpeming (7-2) in the standings. The Redmen polished off Manistique, 74-61, and the Hematites swept past Sault, 75-61, to keep the first and second spots on the ladder.

Gladstone made a three-pronged thrust in the first quarter with Cliff Young, Lynn

Schedule Error

There was an error in Monday's City League basketball schedule in yesterday's Press. The 8 p.m. game will match Tom's Signs and Robinson's and the 9 p.m. contest has Gainer's going against Hebert's, instead of what the schedule showed yesterday.

Apelgren and Wayne Marshall teaming up for 20 of the Braves' 25 points and a 17-point lead. Manistique managed only two baskets in the first eight minutes, the first came with 2:34 showing on the clock by replacement Jerry Arnold. The other counter was made by another replacement, Bob Harrison. The other four points came from the charity stripe.

Advantage Doubles

Coach Norm Jahn's Emeralds fared a little better in the second period but again it was Gladstone's "Big Three," Young Marshall and Apelgren who proved masters of the situation. The trio netted 23 more points for the onrushing Braves.

By intermission, Gladstone had more than doubled its lead, going into the lockerroom with a big 52-24 bulge. Ingalls was going to his bench midway through the quarter.

The Braves led by 31 points midway through the second period, 43-12 before Jerry Sample and Gary Webber found the range for a couple of two-pointers.

Reserves Take Over

Ingalls started his regulars in the third period but some soon departed as the Braves kept their 30-point lead. Gladstone was content with ball control as each club managed 14 points in the stanza.

After Jerry Erickson hit his first basket in the final quarter, Bob Prins, who had three early fouls and left the game, returned and tallied two straight baskets, giving Gladstone a 72-38 margin early in the final quarter.

Reserves from both clubs played a good share of the last period. John Skellenger scored three late points and Pat Cole four as the Braves kept their margin in the 30-range. Kieth Aldrich hit six straight free throws for the Emeralds, as they scored 21 points in the last eight minutes, their best quarter of the game.

Gladstone's 23 counters were all made by the reserves.

Young Scores 26

Young topped all scorers with 26 points, 22 coming in the fast-moving first half. Apelgren added 18 and Marshall 12 as the Braves upped their season mark to 7-6.

Arnold came off the bench to lead the Emeralds in scoring, hitting 12 counters.

Gladstone tallied 35 of 75 shots from the field with a torrid first half percentage. Young hit 11 of 25, most of them coming in the first 16 minutes of action. He also led the Braves in clearing the boards, picking off 10 of the team's 55 rebounds.

In a fast preliminary game, Gladstone's 7th Graders edged All Saints 7th graders, 30-25. The Braves host Newberry Friday and Stephenson Saturday in a weekend doubleheader.

Uerling is acting Association secretary Sgt. Ralph Kasten, Marquette State Police Post. Standing is Prof. Fred Hatch, LSSC, who spoke to the group following luncheon.

Admitted to Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital Thursday were Jacqueline Casey, Viola Gauthier, Ferris Gray, Jeanette Spaulding, Louis Magnusson, Gene Browning and Faye Hartman.

Discharged were Leo Dean, Ruby Bockorney, Karen Cole, John Geniesse, Earl Webber, Lucille Houghton and Bertha Plante.

Briefly Told

Baked beans and meat casserole, celery sticks, chocolate covered raisins and beverage is the hot lunch for Monday at Manistique Area Schools.

Mrs. Jack Gunderson of Menasha, Wis., the former Betty Jean Osterhout of Manistique, is a patient at Thea Clark Hospital in Neenah, Wis., and may be addressed care of Room 452.

'Search, Seizure' Law Clarified At Session

The Upper Peninsula Law Enforcement Association, meeting Thursday in Manistique, heard a Lake Superior State College professor discuss Michigan's "Search and Seizure" law.

Search and seizure refers to a law officer's search of an individual's home and/or possessions and the taking of items found during the search for use as evidence of illegal gain or use. This may be done with or without a search warrant, depending on circumstances.

Prof. Fred Hatch told the 81 law officers that current court decisions and new legislation are hampering the investigative process.

The rights of the individual are of paramount importance, as they should be, he said, yet "the name of the game is 'convict the guilty person' and this is becoming increasingly difficult as things now stand."

The Michigan Constitutional Proviso, allowing search for narcotics, firearms and explosives without a search warrant, was recently declared unconstitutional by the U. S. Supreme Court.

He suggested the Michigan legislature review the present laws to determine their effectiveness.

Some of our present laws erect barriers and create loopholes enabling attorneys a great deal of latitude, he said.

Michigan law officers still function under a ruling dating back to the 1930's, he said, and told the following tale:

During Prohibition, a sheriff was conducting a legal search for beans and instead found contraband liquor. However, the court refused to allow the liquor as evidence of illegal possession since the officer was searching for beans.

Laws vary from state to state, he said, and cited the parallel between two cases — one in Michigan and the other in California — with entirely different Supreme Court rulings.

In both cases, a man was taken to the hospital, unconscious, after an automobile accident. While still unconscious, officers directed a physician to order a blood sample which was analyzed by a police laboratory and found to contain a high percentage of alcohol.

During civil action following the automobile accident, the defendants each claimed that the taking of the blood sample while unconscious constituted an "unreasonable search of person."

California upheld the complaint while Michigan did not.

Many loose ends need to be tied up in our laws or law enforcement will be severely hampered, he repeated at the conclusion of his address.

Prof. Hatch, who teaches Sociology of the Law at LSSC, is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin and also holds a law degree from that institution. He studied at the National Law Center, Georgetown University, Washington, D. C., spent two years with Maryland police as a detective and the Washington, D.C., Public Safety Department before joining the faculty at LSSC.

The bi-monthly meeting of the Association attracted law enforcement officials from all over the peninsula. Current officers include Police Chief Richard Frederick, Escanaba, president; Lt. John Berry, Marquette Prison, vice president; State Police Sgt. Ralph Kasten, Marquette, acting secretary. Sgt. Paul Uerling, Manistique State Police Post Commander, hosted the meeting.

Voters Renew Millage Levy

Voters in the Manistique area school district approved renewal of a 4.0 mill tax levy for operating purposes by a 646 to 394 margin in Friday's special school election.

The voting was light as only 1,046 electors turned out to cast their ballots. Seven spoiled ballots are included in the total.

The levy is a renewal of 4.0 mills which expired in December and is for a five-year period. It will raise in excess of $104,000 for the local district.

Area board of education president Denton Nelson said he was happy the proposal passed since "this indicates a vote of confidence in the board by the people."

"I'm glad we were successful because now that the election is over the board can get down to settling the problems we have and not have to worry about millage."

Total district levy is 16.34 mills including the 4.0 mills which won approval, an additional voted 5.5 mills and 6.84 mills allocated from county taxes.

The proposal won in the two city precincts and three townships, but lost in the three remaining townships in the district.

The following is the voting breakdown by districts: Lincoln, 144 yes, 64 no; Lakeside, 277 yes, 110 no; Thompson, 33 yes, 20 no; Hiawatha, 72 yes, 68 no; Fairview, 32 yes, 42 no; Doyle, 47 yes, 35 no; Mueller, 15 yes, 28 no; and Germfask, 25 yes, 27 no.

Hospital

Admitted to Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital Thursday were Jacqueline Casey, Viola Gauthier, Ferris Gray, Jeanette Spaulding, Louis Magnusson, Gene Browning and Faye Hartman.

Discharged were Leo Dean, Ruby Bockorney, Karen Cole, John Geniesse, Earl Webber, Lucille Houghton and Bertha Plante.

Briefly Told

Baked beans and meat casserole, celery sticks, chocolate covered raisins and beverage is the hot lunch for Monday at Manistique Area Schools.

Mrs. Jack Gunderson of Menasha, Wis., the former Betty Jean Osterhout of Manistique, is a patient at Thea Clark Hospital in Neenah, Wis., and may be addressed care of Room 452.

'Search, Seizure' Law Clarified At Session

The Upper Peninsula Law Enforcement Association, meeting Thursday in Manistique, heard a Lake Superior State College professor discuss Michigan's "Search and Seizure" law.

Search and seizure refers to a law officer's search of an individual's home and/or possessions and the taking of items found during the search for use as evidence of illegal gain or use. This may be done with or without a search warrant, depending on circumstances.

Prof. Fred Hatch told the 61 law officers that current court decisions and new legislation are hampering the investigative process.

The rights of the individual are of paramount importance, as they should be, he said, yet "the name of the game is 'convict the guilty person' and this is becoming increasingly difficult as things now stand."

The Michigan Constitutional Proviso, allowing search for narcotics, firearms and explosives without a search warrant, was recently declared unconstitutional by the U. S. Supreme Court.

He suggested the Michigan legislature review the present laws to determine their effectiveness.

Some of our present laws erect barriers and create loopholes enabling attorneys a great deal of latitude, he said.

Michigan law officers still function under a ruling dating back to the 1930's, he said, and told the following tale:

During Prohibition, a sheriff was conducting a legal search for beans and instead found contraband liquor. However, the court refused to allow the liquor as evidence of illegal possession since the officer was searching for beans.

Laws vary from state to state, he said, and cited the parallel between two cases — one in Michigan and the other in California — with entirely different Supreme Court rulings.

In both cases, a man was taken to the hospital, unconscious, after an automobile accident. While still unconscious, officers directed a physician to order a blood sample which was analyzed by a police laboratory and found to contain a high percentage of alcohol.

During civil action following the automobile accident, the defendants each claimed that the taking of the blood sample while unconscious constituted an "unreasonable search of person." California upheld the complaint while Michigan did not.

Many loose ends need to be tied up in our laws or law enforcement will be severely hampered, he repeated at the conclusion of his address.

Officers include Police Chief Richard Frederick, Escanaba, president; Lt. John Berry, Marquette Prison, vice president; State Police Sgt. Ralph Kasten, Marquette, acting secretary. Sgt. Paul Uerling, Manistique State Police Post Commander, hosted the meeting.

Voters Renew Millage Levy

Voters in the Manistique area school district approved renewal of a 4.0 mill tax levy for operating purposes by a 645 to 394 margin in Friday's special school election.

The voting was light as only 1,046 electors turned out to cast their ballots. Seven spoiled ballots are included in the total.

The levy is a renewal of 4.0 mills which expired in December and is for a five-year period. It will raise in excess of $104,000 for the local district.

Area board of education president Denton Nelson said he was happy the proposal passed since "this indicates a vote of confidence in the board by the people."

"I'm glad we were successful because now that the election is over the board can get down to settling the problems we have and not have to worry about millage."

Total district levy is 16.34 mills including the 4.0 mills which won approval, an additional voted 5.5 mills and 6.84 mills allocated from county taxes.

The proposal won in the two city precincts and three townships, but lost in the three remaining townships in the district.

The following is the voting breakdown by districts: Lincoln, 144 yes, 64 no; Lakeside, 277 yes, 110 no; Thompson, 33 yes, 20 no; Hiawatha, 72 yes, 68 no; Fairview, 32 yes, 42 no; Doyle, 47 yes, 35 no; Mueller, 15 yes, 28 no; and Germfask, 25 yes, 27 no.

Queen Is Ill

LONDON (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II has laryngitis, a Buckingham Palace spokesman says, and is staying in her rooms until she recovers.

Deanne Marie Beaudre Weds Gregory Koontz

Deanne Marie Beaudre and Gregory L. Koontz exchanged marriage vows during a Feb. 7 Nuptial Mass at St. Francis de Sales Catholic Church. The two o'clock double-ring ceremony was performed by Fr. Arnold Granbow, assistant pastor. The bride was given in marriage by her brother, David Beaudre.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Martin Beaudre, 305 N. Cedar St., and the late Mr. Beaudre. Mr. and Mrs. John Koontz, 1014 S. 14th St., Escanaba, are the bridegroom's parents.

The bride chose a full-length satin taffeta lace trimmed gown with sabrina neckline, long bishop sleeves and redingote bouffant skirt with attached chapel-length train. Her double-crowned veil was lace trimmed with decorative crystals and pearls and three tiers of illusion netting. She carried a cascade of roses with ivy.

Connie Hutton of Green Bay was maid of honor and Nancy Koontz, the bridegroom's sister, bridesmaid. They wore floor-length blue crepe gowns trimmed with white lace, bell-type sleeves. Each carried a red rose. David Beaudre was best man and Dennis Beaudre, groomsmen. Ushering were Harold Buruse and Pat Nelson. The bride's brother, Dean Beaudre, commented the Mass and also sang during the ceremony.

Mrs. Beaudre attended her daughter's wedding in a two-piece teal blue suit dress with black accessories. Mrs. Koontz wore a three-piece gold suit with brown accessories. Both mothers were presented a corsage of red roses.

A family reception was held at the Knights of Columbus Hall following the ceremony. Zandra Beaudre was in charge of the guest book.

The couple left for a wedding trip to an undisclosed location. They will make their home in Escanaba.

The new Mrs. Koontz attended Holy Family Academy, Manitowish, Wis., and graduated from the Manistique High School and Bay de Noc Nursing School. Her husband is also a graduate of Manistique High School and served three years in the armed forces.

Gophers Blank Spartan Sextet

By The Associated Press
Murray McLaglan notched his first shutout of the season while Steve Hall and Craig Sanner got 2 goals each as the Minnesota Gophers bombed Michigan State 8-0 in a Western Collegiate Hockey Association game Friday night.

In other WCHA action, Denver revenge an earlier trouncing by nipping Minnesota - Duluth, 5-3; North Dakota and Michigan Tech tied at 2-2 despite an overtime period, and Wisconsin defeated Michigan 4-2.

In a club hockey game, the University of Detroit showered Western Michigan's goalie with 54 shots Friday night as Detroit won 7-0.

In the MSU game, McLaglan stopped 23 Michigan State attempts. The Gophers built up a 5-0 lead through two periods.

Wisconsin's freshman line scored three goals in leading the Badgers to a victory over Michigan.

Aquinas Hot

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Aquinas College hit on 55.2 percent of its shots from the floor Friday night, beating Spring Arbor 80-75 in a college basketball game. Bob Partt was high for the winners with 26 points while Gerald Bird scored 25 for the losers.

Gambling Probe Involves McLain

DETROIT (AP) — Denny McLain, the Detroit Tiger pitcher who won 55 games during the last two baseball seasons, has met with federal attorneys to cooperate on a national gambling investigation, an associate of McLain's said Friday night.

McLain has not done anything illegal, but the federal investigation deals with persons McLain may have known, said Ed Demetrak, who has been a McLain cohort in business enterprises for the past 3½ years.

McLain could not be immediately reached for comment.

The Detroit Free Press said he has been investigated concerning possible involvement in gambling and association with gamblers.

Kuhn Makes Statement
Earlier Friday, Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn said in a statement at New York that "certain off the field activities" of McLain in 1967 are being reviewed by the office.

Kuhn did not say what activities.

Pistons Crack Losing Streak

By The Associated Press
Terry Dischinger, Jimmie Walker and Dave Bing got together Friday night to blitz the Phoenix Suns as the Detroit Pistons snapped a two-game losing streak and earned a 132-120 National Basketball Association win.

It was the third straight loss for the Suns as Dischinger finished with 27, Walker 25 and Bing 21. The Pistons led through most of the contest and started the second half with a 70-53 edge. The lead was 105-90 at the end of three quarters thanks to a 14-point spurge by Dischinger.

Dischinger also turned in a sharp defensive effort, holding Connie Hawkins to just 20 points. Hawkins had been averaging 35 points a game in his last eight contests.

In New York ex-Michigan star Cazzie Russell took a seat on the bench after leading the Knickerbockers to a 49-point lead. Under those circumstances, Russell didn't seem to mind so much.

Russell, who finally earned a spot in New York's starting lineup, three games ago when Bill Bradley was sidelined with an ankle injury, sat out the fourth quarter of the Knicks' 151-106 National Basketball Association romp over Philadelphia.

But, this time, the former Michigan All-American enjoyed the view from the bench...after pouring in 35 points as the Eastern Division leaders turned an 80-point first half blitz into the worst thrashing ever absorbed by the 76ers.

While the Knicks cut their division-clinching magic number to 14, Detroit trimmed Phoenix 132-120; Cincinnati whipped San Francisco 128-110 and Seattle edged Baltimore 141-139.

In American Basketball Association play, Carolina shaded Los Angeles 95-91 and Washington topped New Orleans 111-101.

Dick McAuliffe hit a two-run pinch home run in his last 1969 at bat for the Detroit Tigers. It came on July 13 two weeks before he was operated on for a knee injury.

and oyster shells

A pearl is a thing of beauty—iridescent—a precious gem. An oyster shell is rather ugly—a remnant of a marine mollusk much esteemed as a delicacy. And yet both are built of identical shell-producing cells.

It is happenstance that causes tiny parasites or grains of sand to penetrate the oyster, severing the shell-producing cells and carrying them deep into the oyster to form perfect pearls.

It is no accident that some men from poor beginnings have become great leaders, statesmen or educators. Others from identical surroundings live out their lives in poverty and despair.

The difference is integrity and a yearning for excellence in every part of life—that love of God that illumines and elevates.

Your church can help you to make the most of your life. As you grow to understand God as a part of any real achievement, strength and vitality and joy will enrich your days.

Fear 102 Dead In Dominican Plane Mishap

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — No survivors had been found early today from a Dominican airliner which crashed into the Caribbean with 102 persons aboard, rescue officials reported.

The passengers included seven U.S. citizens and 45 Puerto Ricans, officials of the airline said.

The Dominican Airlines twin-jet DC9 crashed into the Caribbean about five miles off the south coast of the island of Hispaniola a few minutes after taking off for San Juan, Puerto Rico, Sunday afternoon.

The pilot had radioed that his engines were failing.

The airline said the U.S. citizens aboard, other than the Puerto Ricans, were John Payne, Chicago; Theodore Payne, Salt Lake City; Ruth Atosto, New York City; Gilbert Hays, Florida; Francis Robert Downes of Massachusetts, who lived in the Dominican Republic at Las Matas de Farfan; and two Cubans who were naturalized U.S. citizens. Emerito Perez Acevedo and Concepcion Nanson.

Also aboard were 45 Dominicans, one Spaniard, two Peruvians, an Argentinean and a Belgian priest who lived in the Dominican Republic.

Wreckage was spotted about five miles offshore, and Dominican air and naval units searched for survivors through the night. An American search plane from Puerto Rico dropped flares over the area.

If no survivors are found, it will be Latin America's second worst air crash.

Among those reported aboard was a former world lightweight boxing champion, Carlos "Teo" Cruz, his wife and two children.

Superintendent At Calumet Quits

CALUMET (AP) — Robert Hodges, superintendent of Calumet Public Schools for the past 15 years, has resigned, effective at the close of the school year. Hodges is a former school superintendent at Rockland in Ontonagon County and Dollar Bay in Houghton County. He indicated that family pressures are mainly what prompted his decision.

State Fiscal, Monetary Decisions Await Action

LANSING (AP) — Major fiscal and monetary decisions await action early this week in both houses of the Michigan Legislature.

The House and Senate meet tonight at 8 o'clock.

Nixon Readies Peace Formula

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon will propose new initiatives for bettering American-Soviet relations in his first-of-its-kind "global report" this week based on the theme of a "new strategy for peace."

Nixon, back from a four-day Florida holiday, will send the extraordinary, 25,000-word document to Congress Wednesday, outlining U.S. foreign policy—including Vietnam—from when he took office, and carrying it into the future.

White House informants who had advance knowledge indicated Nixon would set out new proposals for settling long-standing East-West disputes.

They suggested the report also would encompass areas of mutual concern such as the Israeli-Arab conflict.

Informants indicated the new proposals would center directly on relations between the United States and Soviet Union. However, the sources would provide no specifics on what the chief executive had in mind.

While away from the capital, the chief executive completed work in his global review.

On Saturday, Nixon announced that toxins have joined bacteriological weapons on the list of military items the United States will ban from its arsenal.

A high White House official, declining to be quoted by name, said omission of toxins from a Nov. 25 order banning bacterio-

Reconciliation Aim In Russ-Sino Talks

LONDON (AP) — A Soviet informant said today Moscow's top priority at the Peking border talks is to find out whether reconciliation with China is possible to end the split in the Communist world.

He said the chief of the Soviet negotiating team, First Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily Kuznetsov, has settled in for a long series of probing talks with his Chinese counterpart, Chiao Kuan-hua.

This would indicate a considerable broadening of the objectives of the talks, which began Oct. 20.

In Soviet eyes, the source said, reconciliation must mean China's return to the Communist fold led by Moscow. Failure could lead to a widening of the breach between the two Communist giants.

The informant is an official in a position to see important diplomatic papers passing between the Kremlin and High Soviet diplomats around the world. There was no way to determine whether he was stating the actual Soviet position or putting up a propaganda front. But his remarks in an interview coincided with an article in Pravda, the Soviet Communist party newspaper, which said the Soviet Union is taking the initiative in trying to restore friendly relations between Moscow and Peking.

Kuznetsov returned to Peking at the start of the year for the second phase of the talks on the 4,000-mile border between the two countries.

The source in London said the Kremlin was heartened by Peking's willingness to renew the talks — broken off by Moscow in December — and especially by a Chinese agreement to broaden the discussion to include issues of trade and diplomacy.

finances a school aid appropriation that would be almost as much as the state is spending this year in its total, $1.54-billion general fund budget.

Loan Bill On Agenda

The Senate, meanwhile, takes up a bill, similar to one vetoed last year by Gov. William Milliken as "contrary to consumer interest," that would raise the ceiling on short-term, small loans from $1,000 to $3,500. The revised version is understood to be viewed by the executive office as "much more acceptable," but it still is anathema to organized labor which fought it last year.

Some 15 amendments to the bill have been proposed by the Michigan Commerce Department, and the extent to which they are included could influence the position that Milliken ultimately takes on the bill.

Annual interest that small loan companies may charge ranges from 30 per cent for $100 to 22.4 per cent for $1,000.

Budget Hearings Set

Hearings also are expected to get under way this week in the Senate Appropriations Committee on details of the $1.737-million budget that Milliken proposed for fiscal 1970-71. Calculated to leave a $17.6-million surplus by July 1, 1971, it is predicated on legislative approval of more than $143-million in new taxes on cigarettes, retail sales and reduced property tax exemptions.

The budget, however, could be seriously altered if the house approves substitute tax and school aid bills proposed by Rep. Roy Spencer, R-Attica.

Bill Would Be Out

Spencer's plan would mean scrapping a $974-million school aid bill, passed by the Senate, that the House has labored over for a month.

In its place, he proposes more than $1.6 billion in state aid to elementary and secondary schools, including parochial schools.

The impact of Spencer's plan is contained in his tax bill which requires raising some $300-400 million—at least twice Milliken's own proposals—in new taxes.

House Speaker William Ryan said several days may be spent in debate on the measure. If, voted on and defeated after debate tonight, it might even be reconsidered Tuesday or Wednesday, Ryan said. "We want to give it a good, thorough hearing," he explained.

Group Rejects Laws Aimed At Student Unrest

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — A state study on campus unrest called today for the public to "try to understand the problems of the college and university community." It rejected "repressive legislation" aimed at student dissent.

The first report of the Temporary State Commission to Study the Causes of Campus Unrest also proposed a more lenient approach for dealing with the use of marijuana and advocated lowering the voting age in New York from 21 to 18.

The 196-page report said the commission had found no substantial evidence that professional agitators played a significant role in incidents of unrest at colleges and universities in New York.

The nine-member commission was created by the 1969 legislature.

The people of the state, it said, should "try to understand the problems of the college and university community. They are unique entities quite dissimilar from any other social institutions."

There are 212 institutions of higher learning in New York. Because schools are so different, the commission said, "there is no single piece of legislation, no one program prescription nor any simple appeal to the people which can provide an effective solution to the problems of all institutions."

Fate Of 'Chicago 7' In Hands Of Jurors

Trial Lawyers Get Sentences For Contempt

CHICAGO (AP) — A U.S. District Court jury resumed deliberations today, the third day, on a verdict in the trial of seven men charged with riot conspiracy at the time of the 1968 Democratic National Convention.

The defendants already are in jail for contemptuous behavior during the long trial and one of their lawyers has been sentenced to four years in prison for contempt.

Judge Julius J. Hoffman of U.S. District Court finished fixing sentences on the defendants for contempt Sunday, then turned to lawyers William M. Kunstler, and Leonard I. Weinglass.

Lawyers Sentenced

Kunstler, 50, of New York City was sentenced to 48 months and 13 days on 24 counts of contempt. Weinglass, 36, of Newark, N.J., was sentenced to 20 months and 5 days in prison on 14 counts.

The judge characterized as "reprehensible conduct," the actions of the lawyers for the seven men charged with conspiracy to incite rioting at the time of the 1968 Democratic National Convention.

He stayed execution of the lawyers' sentences to May 4 to allow them to perform legal duties for their clients, being held in the federal tier of Cook County Jail during the jury deliberations.

Sentences Vary

If convicted of conspiracy, each man faces a maximum sentence of 10 years in prison and a $20,000 fine. The judge denied motions to free the seven on bond pending appeal of the contempt charges.

Weinglass told newsman Sunday night that he was optimistic because the jury had not reached a quick verdict.

"I was very pessimistic at the beginning of the trial but I think that now that the jury has been out some time there is a reasonable likelihood of an acquittal or a hung jury," he said.

The jury was locked up shortly after noon Saturday and the judge promptly began his contempt citations.

400 Planes Bomb VC Supply Lines

SAIGON (AP) — More than 400 American fighter-bombers attacked North Vietnamese troops, trucks and supply lines in eastern Laos Sunday in some of the heaviest air raids ever flown in Southeast Asia.

One propeller-driven A1E Skyraider was shot down over the Plain of Jars and the American pilot was presumed killed, sources in Vientiane said.

Sources in Saigon said the raids were a two-pronged aerial offensive against North Vietnamese forces. Some were in support of Laotian government forces on the Plain of Jars, which is under North Vietnamese attack. Other raids were against the Ho Chi Minh trail farther east to slow the movement of North Vietnamese troops and supplies into South Vietnam.

The sources said the planes came from two 7th Fleet carriers in the Tonkin Gulf and half a dozen bases in Thailand and South Vietnam. Most were F4 Phantom and F105 Thunderchief fighter-bombers, which carry 10,000 to 15,000 pounds of bombs.

Pill Overdose Fells Mother Of One Defendant

CHICAGO (AP) — Ruth Weiner, mother of one of the seven defendants in the Chicago riot conspiracy trial, was taken to a hospital late Sunday after taking what physicians said was an overdose of tranquilizers.

Mrs. Weiner, 55, was listed in fair condition at Michael Reese Hospital.

Mrs. Weiner's husband, Herman, told police she was upset because their son, Lee, was sentenced to serve two months and eighteen days in jail for contempt.

A guard at Cook County Jail, said young Weiner was notified of his mother's condition, and he quoted Weiner as saying he was not surprised by the incident, indicating that his mother had been depressed since his indictment. Weiner is a graduate student in sociology at Northwestern University.

Nomination Of Carswell Gets Judiciary Okay

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Judiciary Committee approved by a vote of 12 to 4 today the Supreme Court nomination of Judge G. Harrold Carswell of Tallahassee, Fla.

Chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss., told newsmen that the committee's majority report recommending Carswell's confirmation will be filed in the Senate later today.

The senators voting against approval of Carswell's nomination were all Democrats—Philip A. Hart of Michigan, Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts, Birch Bayh of Indiana and Joseph D. Tydings of Maryland.

Sen. Marlow Cook, R-Ky., passed without voting when the roll was called in the closed-door meeting.

People 'Staying Put' More, Census Shows

WASHINGTON (AP) — People are expected to show no gain or loss. Political effects of seat redistribution are significant—especially for current House members who are thrown into the same district in states losing seats.

Reapportionment Set

Legislatures within each state will reapportion districts based on the new distribution and 1970 census figures. Most states, even if their number of representatives does not change, will have to reapportion because of one-man, one-vote court decisions.

Both political parties are concentrating more than usual on 1970 state legislature elections since the controlling party will have the advantage of drawing new districts in its favor.

Asks Change

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. Rep. John E. Moss said today "there may very well be a pattern of news management" in the U.S. Armed Forces' radio-television network in Vietnam.

The California Democrat, who is chairman of a House subcommittee on government information, conferred for nearly two hours with GIs critical of editorial policies in the news department of the Armed Forces Vietnam Network, or AFVN.

Some States Gain

The new estimates also indicate Florida will gain two seats, and Arizona, Texas and Colorado one each. This would make California's delegation the largest at 42. New York would be next at 39.

New York and Pennsylvania are expected to lose two seats each, and North Dakota, West Virginia, Ohio, Iowa, and Wisconsin one each.

Gains or losses forecast for Arizona, Florida, Texas, North Dakota, West Virginia, Iowa, Pennsylvania and Wisconsin are unchanged from a bureau table dated March 7, 1967.

Forecasts Unstable

But at that time, the bureau forecast California would gain six seats, New Jersey would gain one and Connecticut would possibly gain one. The bureau didn't mention Colorado. It predicted one-seat losses for Illinois, Michigan, New York and Oklahoma, and said Ohio would lose one and possibly two seats.

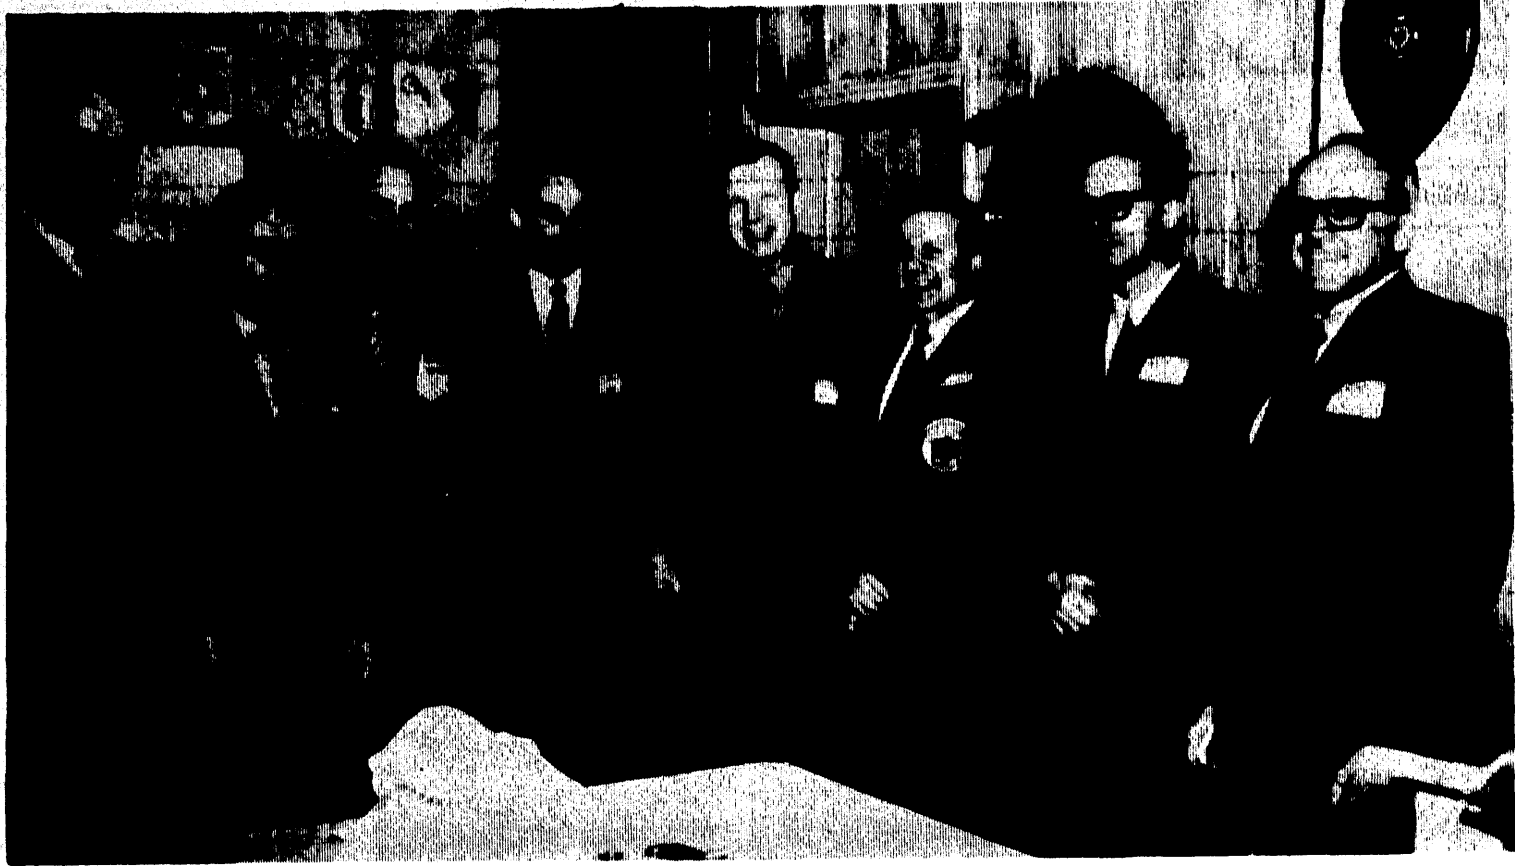

Now, New Jersey, Connecticut, Illinois, Michigan and Oklahoma are expected to lose two seats each, and North Dakota, West Virginia, Ohio, Iowa, and Wisconsin one each.

Education sessions were held throughout the day under the direction of Eastern Division Lieutenant Governor Larry Ulrich of Neenah and District 35 Governor Don Costello, Racine.

At the luncheon, members and wives were entertained by a fashion show by Gartner's and Robert's Shoes. A wig styling show was presented by Hair Goods Unlimited.

The evening dinner was highlighted by the Eastern Division Humorous speech contest. First place honors went to Joe Salas, Oshkosh; second place to Rad Rakke, Appleton; third place to Al Piquette, Escanaba; and fourth to Ben Kinnunen, Baraga.

The evening session was directed by Larry Ulrich as toastmaster and John Wallace of Green Bay as speech director. Winners of the speech contest will compete in the district conference to be held in Milwaukee in April.

Other district officers attending were Terry Wunsch, educational lieutenant governor of Milwaukee and administrative lieutenant governor Carl Kopschkie, Jim Wren, area governor and member of Bay de Noc Toastmaster's, was coordinator for the days activities.

Says 1971 Autos Able To Operate On Leadless Gas

DETROIT (AP) — All 1971 General Motors automobiles will be able to operate satisfactorily with lead-free, 91-octane gasoline, GM President Edward Cole, said Saturday.

In addition, Cole said that all pre-1971 GM cars using regular grade gasoline will be able to operate on similarly lead-free fuel "provided minor adjustments are made."

"Unleaded fuel," Cole said, "will be helpful in our engineering programs aimed at developing virtually emission-free vehicles within the framework of the federal government's future control standards."

While the emission of lead is a minor automobile contribution to pollution, the automakers have been unable thus far to develop with leaded gasoline satisfactory afterburners to consume hydrocarbons and carbon monoxide now exhausted into the atmosphere.

Cole said GM's plans in this direction were occasioned by announcements from some petroleum companies indicating they will have an unleaded regular grade gasoline available throughout the country by next year.

Short Governor?

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — Robert E. Short, owner of the Washington Senators baseball team and a former national treasurer of the Democratic party, says he probably will run for governor of Minnesota this year.

Short, 52, was the Democratic-Farmer-Labor candidate for lieutenant governor in 1966 but was defeated along with Gov. Karl F. Roivas, who was seeking re-election.

PO Chief Says Smut Sellers Running Scared

WASHINGTON (AP) — Smut sellers are running scared following convictions of prominent pornography dealers, the Post Office's chief inspector says.

Faced with convictions, some of the best-known pornographic dealers have given up their mailing lists and are going out of business, William J. Cotter said in an interview.

In some cities, he said, "adult" bookstores heard about a Supreme Court action upholding eight obscenity convictions and closed their doors before police arrived.

Cotter, a former FBI agent before becoming chief inspector, said there were 234,000 complaints last year about unsolicited pornographic mailings.

Nearly all the mail could be traced to about 20 operators, Cotter said, and most of these are now under indictment.

Cotter said questions remain whether any definition of "obscenity" for literature can pass court scrutiny of whether the book has a redeeming social message. But he said there's little question about the lack of redeeming qualities of the sexually explicit photographs which dominate many smut mailings.

Cotter cited three factors as significant in the fight against pornography peddlers:

—Supreme Court decisions refusing to disturb the conviction of eight Boston book dealers for selling pornography and voiding a federal court order allowing the movie "I Am Curious (Yellow)" to be shown in Boston despite a state court ban.

—Two federal convictions of dealers for sending obscene matter through the mails.

—Indictments of 17 persons on charges of sending offensive materials through the mail, with consideration by federal grand juries of similar cases involving five more dealers.

He said California's statewide crackdown is helping dry up a principal source of the objectionable mail. Los Angeles police alone have made 80 arrests, he said.

Cotter also suggested another law might help his division.

That would allow the Post Office to computerize a master list of individuals who object to receiving sexual advertising.

Any large advertiser dealing in such material would have to pay the Post Office to look at the list. Under penalty of prosecution, they could not use names appearing on the master list.

Industrial Approach Next:

'Little People' Donate $16,000 To Ice Arena

Directors of the Community Indoor Ice Arena Corp., armed with an outpouring of support from the "little people" of the community in this weekend's telethon, plan to take their campaign to build a new indoor ice facility in the area to the "big industry" of the area.

Although final tabulations on pledges and cash contributions during the telethon were still being refigured today, officials expected the total to soar well over the $16,000 mark.

The unofficial tally Sunday was $15,844, but this did not include "at least $1,000" in nickels, dimes, quarters and dollars dumped in the telethon's "Arena Bucket" by dozens of youngsters who went out on their own in door-to-door solicitations.

Dr. Gary Bradley, vice president of the corporation, said the accounting firm of Schneider, Larche & Haapala of Escanaba will have to retabulate all of the hundreds of pledges that were telephoned in to the Civic Center before an exact total can be announced.

Exceeded Hopes

Directors of the corporation were overwhelmed with the reception in the community, Bradley said, with the indicated total of over $16,000 exceeding advance expectations. The total was particularly gratifying, he continued, because it represented the response of individual citizens, including hundreds of children, and small businesses in the area.

The Board of Directors of the non-profit corporation in expressing gratitude to the hundreds of people who worked on the telethon and to the "countless others" who donated or pledged money, said today that "inasmuch as this was Delta County's first endeavor to raise funds by means of a live telecast, we feel this was a huge success...."

"This is very significant in that the total of over $16,000 was contributed by countless hundreds of civic-minded people and businessmen and does not reflect any contribution by the area's industrial concerns."

Only For Building

Funds raised will not be used for other purposes than the building fund, Bradley emphasized. Money will be deposited in the First National Bank & Trust for investment to bring interest to the building fund.

200,000 Witness Chinese Parade

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Week-long festivities ushering in the Chinese Year of the Dog ended with a spectacular parade in the Western Hemisphere's largest Chinatown.

More than 200,000, by police estimate, turned out for the glittering procession of dragons, lions, floats, bands and pretty girls.

Riding midway in the parade was Miss Chinatown USA, Marion Kam Yin Lee, 21, of Honolulu.

No arrests or disturbances were reported along the 14-block route Saturday night although firecrackers sounded constantly, despite a police ban against the explosives.

Fire Department dispatcher Jim Holmes said after the noise had subsided: "There wasn't one false alarm. That's the first time that has happened in 13 years."

Checks for pledges should be mailed to Arena, Box 50, Escanaba, and persons who have pledged money for the arena were urged to mail their checks as soon as possible to reduce the number of followups the corporation will have to make.

The Board of Directors of the ice arena corporation will meet this week to plan an approach to industry of the area.

"We've had verbal commitments from some industries," Bradley said, "but we would like a definite commitment."

He indicated the corporation board probably would send letters, then make personal visits.

Hopes For $100,000

Bradley said the board is hopeful that if $100,000 can be raised locally, that the remaining cost of the building will be available from governmental sources on a matching-fund basis. Cost estimates on the proposed ice arena are in the $250,000 range.

As yet, no site for the arena has been selected.

The telethon, which was scheduled from noon Saturday to noon Sunday, actually ran an hour and a half over schedule, until 1:30 p.m. The 2½-hour production was televised by American Cablevision on Channel 4.

Draft Director Post Still Open

WASHINGTON (AP) — For the first time in over 28 years the Selective Service System operated today without a director — in other words, without Gen. Lewis B. Hershey.

Wrestling with an unfamiliar new lottery method and facing Senate review of the whole draft system, the administration has fallen back on the caretaking skills of the system's headquarters staff.

Hershey, draft director since 1941, was reassigned effective today as the President's Advisor on Manpower Mobilization.

And the White House has found it impossible, in the four months since his reassignment was announced, to replace the 76-year-old general.

Back on Oct. 10 when he disclosed the decision, White House press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler added, "We will announce in coming days a deputy director of the Selective Service System who will become director when Gen. Hershey assumes his new job."

By December, Ziegler was saying the appointment would come "as soon as possible."

There were reports that Paul Dietzel, football coach at the University of South Carolina, and Woodie Hayes, Ohio State University football coach, had been offered the job.

Dietzel said he wasn't interested; Hayes denied receiving any offer.

The White House made serious approaches to three others: John Pont, football coach at Indiana University; David O. Maxwell, Pennsylvania's budget director; and Charles J. DiBona, director of the Center for Naval Analysis, in Rosslyn, Va.

The car, owned by Albert W. Olson, Lucas, Ohio, was left in gear. It backed up, struck Mrs. Anderson, and then pushed up onto a snowbank and into another car owned by Francis E. Costley, 1001 Sheridan Rd.

Trial Lawyers Get Sentences For Contempt

condition today at a hospital where she was admitted Sunday after taking an overdose of drugs. She and Weiner's father were in the courtroom when their son was ordered to jail.

Sentences Carry

Jerry C. Rubin, 31, was sentenced to 25 months and 23 days on 15 counts; John R. Froines, 31, received 6 months and 15 days on 10 counts; Thomas E. Hayden, 30, sentenced to 14 months and 14 days on 11 counts; Renard C. "Rennie" Davis, 29 received 25 months and 5 days on 23 counts and Abbott "Abbie" Hoffman, 31, was sentenced to 8 months on 23 counts.

Penalties for each count ranged from one day for such offenses as failing to rise when the judge entered the court, or Abbie Hoffman's blowing a kiss to the jury, to six months for direct violations of the judge's orders.

Appeal Planned

A legal team of seven lawyers announced Sunday it was preparing briefs to appeal the contempt sentences. The American Civil Liberties Union criticized the judge's action and said it would play a "very substantial role" in expected appeals.

An ACLU statement issued in New York said, in part, "We find particularly reprehensible the practice of accumulating numerous short sentences imposed after trial and long after the alleged acts of contempt have occurred, as a means of denying a jury trial and other guaranteed rights normally provided in criminal procedures."

Indian Plight

George Custer is the butt of a lot of jokes told by American Indians, according to Vine Deloria, a Standing Rock Sioux who wrote a book called "Custer Died For Your Sins," in which he presents his people's case against the whites.

In one of these jokes, a member of Custer's forces, realizing that the pale faces are doomed, covers himself with red clay and crawls toward the Indian lines. When an Indian sights him and raises a rifle, the disguised white pleads not to be shot and says he wants to join the Sioux forces. "Why?" the Indian asks. "Better red than dead," replies the white.

There is an entire chapter in Deloria's book devoted to Indian humor, but any examination of the state of the American Indian today suggests that there is very little in it to laugh about.

"The indicators of Indian suffering are appalling," Time Magazine said. "Their life expectancy is 44 years, compared with 71 for white Americans. The average income for each Indian family living on a reservation — and more than half do — is only $1,500. The average years of schooling is 5.5, well behind that of both the black and the Mexican American. Some officials rate 90 per cent of reservation housing as substandard. Unemployment ranges from a low of 20 per cent on the more affluent reservations to 80 per cent on the poorest. The birth rate of Indians is two and a half times that of whites — and a majority of Indians are under 20 years old. The average family has to carry water for its daily needs at least a mile. It is usually done on foot."

Not a very laughable picture, is it? And the condition of Indians in the Upper Peninsula is no better than that of Indians in other parts of the United States, if we are to take the word of Mark Perrault, who ought to know.

Perrault, who lives in L'Anse, is director of Inter-Tribal Councils of Michigan, a member of the Michigan Indian Affairs Commission and himself an Indian. He appeared before the Upper Peninsula Clergy Council in Marquette and drew a shocking verbal sketch of Indian life in Northern Michigan today.

He said unemployment and underemployment on Upper Peninsula reservations ran to more than 90 per cent — higher even than on some of the poorest reservations elsewhere in the nation.

"Their health problems are quite bad," Perrault told the clergymen. "They get help from the U.S. Public Health Service office at Rhineland, Wis., but its total budget for health care for Michigan Indians is only $21,000 a year. We have kids who want to go to school but can't because their teeth are so bad. The local social services say, 'You've got your own program!'"

Perrault places the blame for much of the Indians' misery on a bungling bureaucracy that means to help the Indian but actually hinders him. Deloria and other Indian spokesmen also identify bureaucracy as a principal culprit.

The Bureau of Indian Affairs, the federal agency set up to help the Indian, was established 125 years ago. Today, it employs 15,000 persons. Through the years, it has spent billions of dollars trying to assist Indians but often as not actually hampering them.

"If it weren't for the BIA, Indians would be extinct now," a Sioux leader said. "But the way the BIA has handled us, maybe extinction would have been better."

Neither alternative seems very attractive.

Soviet Space 'Triumphs'

It has been one of the major accomplishments of the Kremlin's propaganda that the Communists have been able to convince the West that Soviet military technology is comparable, and in some cases superior, to that of the United States.

The free world has "bought" Moscow's accounts of Soviet space triumphs despite the fact that no one outside the Iron Curtain has ever seen the first Red rocket fired into outer space.

The West, for example, is still satisfied to accept the word of the Kremlin that a cosmonaut in 1965 was the first man to walk in space.

Soviet photographs of the supposed feat were examined by some 35 experts who proclaimed that one picture of a "cosmonaut" had been superimposed on a background shot of the earth and clouds. Examiners included the dean of the college of Graphic Arts at the Rochester (N.Y.) Institute of Technology, and technicians at Eastman Kodak Co. In another instance, an alleged photograph of the back of the moon was identified by experts in New York, Boston and elsewhere as a crude painting or charcoal sketch.

Later Moscow transmitted a picture of a future "cosmic orbital station." An alert American teenager pointed out that the Soviet space station was actually a copy of a 1962 advertisement by the Sperry Gyroscope Co. The ad was "merely an artist's conception," according to a Sperry spokesman.

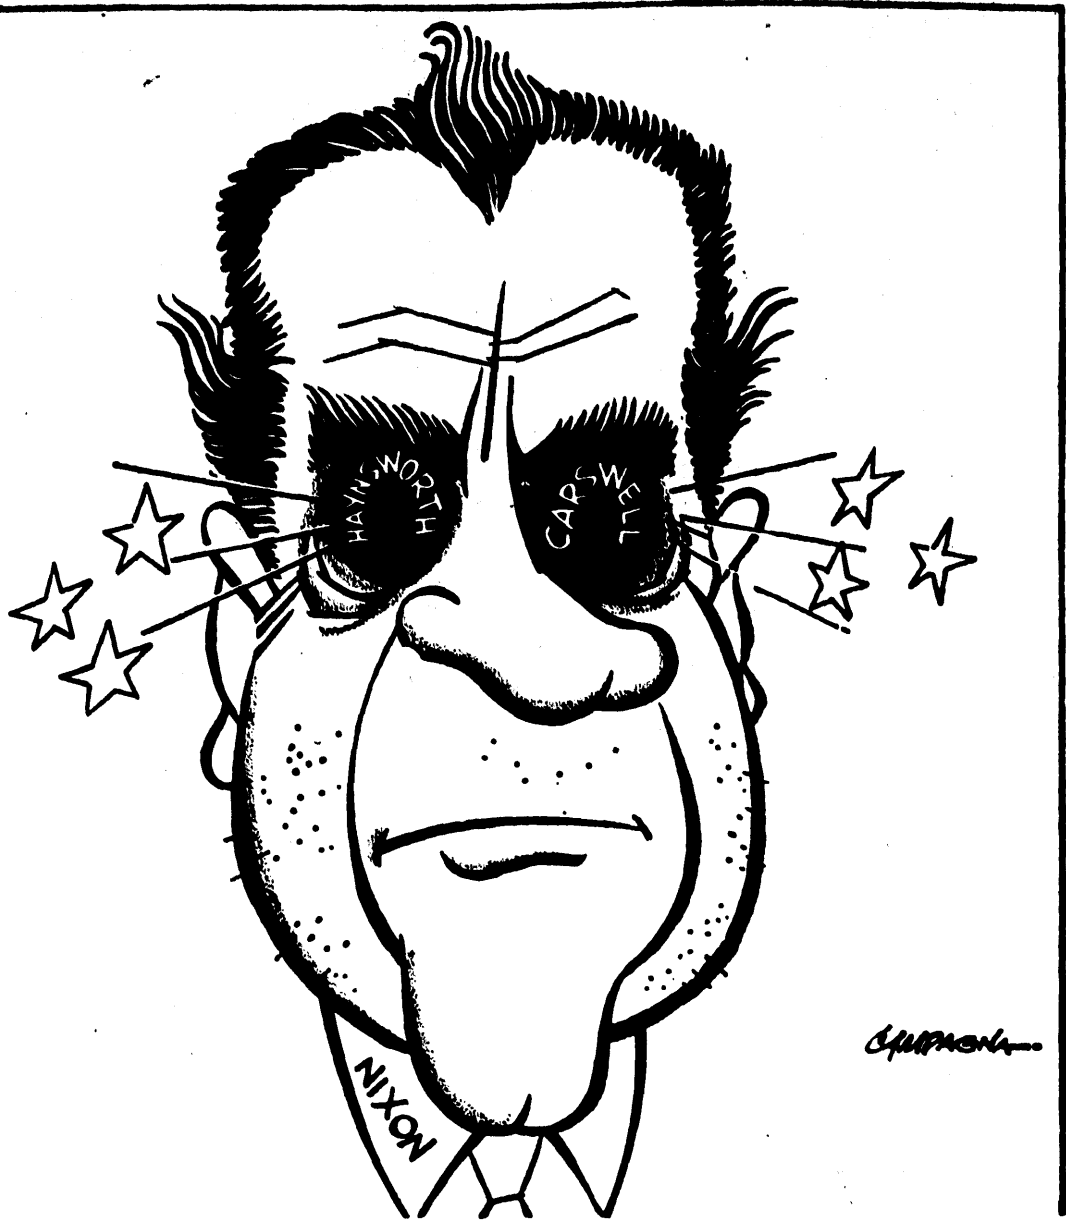

Moscow has practiced with considerable success the statement by W. C. Fields: "Never give a sucker an even break."

The West has been a sucker in accepting the word of the Communists, who use Hitler's big-lie technique to deceive and demoralize the Free World. Consequently the Free World palanology is better than it really is.

Peninsula Potpourri

Circuit Judge Stuart Hoffius of Grand Rapids has been appointed by the Michigan Supreme Court to conduct a hearing into a formal complaint filed against Houghton-Keweenaw District Judge Bert M. Heideman. Following completion of the hearing, which is expected to be conducted in March, Hoffius will report his findings of fact and conclusions of law to the Michigan Judicial Tenure Commission. The body then makes a recommendation to the State Supreme Court for (1) suspension of Heideman, with or without pay; (2) removal from office; or (3) a determination that the charges have not been established. Several charges regarding Heideman's handling of district court cases were filed with the tenure commission.

"THERE AIN'T NO JUSTICE!"

Desperation Tactics And The Viet Cong..

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

When Tran Quoc Buu, the president of the Vietnamese Confederation of Labor, was in the U.S. at the end of 1969, he tried to get it across to some of our dove Senators that the Communist Viet Cong had no intention of living peacefully in "coalition" with non-Communist elements of South Vietnamese society.

The Vietnamese labor leader, who had been in a coalition movement with the Communists back in 1946 and had barely escaped with his life, had little success in his endeavors to explain the obvious to the likes of Senators Fulbright and McGovern. So the latest communiqué from Tran Quoc Buu's office in Saigon, which adds a footnote to the story of the Viet Cong's total lack of concern for ordinary people, would, presumably, have no effect on the Fulbrights and the McGovernes even if they could be brought to read it.

Nevertheless, Tran Quoc Buu's recent message to me from his own fighting front in South Vietnam is worth passing along.

The Vietnamese labor movement, like the AFL-CIO in the U.S., is not an arm of the government. Its concern is with the 450,000 members it has in textile, oil, transport, and tenant farm unions. The Viet Cong should sympathize with Tran Quoc Buu's aim, which is to improve the lot of workers and peasants. But in spite of the "oughts" of the matter, the Viet Cong seized the opportunity during a power failure on the night of Jan. 16, 1970, to blow up the Vietnamese Confederation of Labor's office at Dalat in Tuyen Duc province, with the intention not only of wrecking the trade union center but also of killing the family of Vu Van Loi, the CVT provincial representative who had an apartment in the upper story of the building.

The dynamiting of the CVT office injured two adults and five children.

Naturally, the senselessness of the outrage has hurt the Viet Cong's own cause in Tuyen Duc province. The local people know that the CVT has maintained complete independence of political parties, churches and governments; it has even endured persecutions at times rather than become a subservient pawn of any organization. Just who was being "liberated" from what by the dynamiting is a question that must have left most of the people in Tuyen Duc scratching their heads.

The CVT's own theory is that the Communists in South Vietnam are gambling everything on keeping workers and peasants in a general state of poverty and ignorance so that they may be exploited more easily by Viet Cong agents. The willingness to carry "atrocious strategy" to such lengths as dynamiting a trade union building shows how desperate the Viet Cong has become.

Sen. McGovern, the one extreme dove who seems concerned that a blood-bath might follow a Communist takeover in South Vietnam, has proposed that anti-Communist labor leaders such as Tran Quoc Buu should be helped to emigrate once a "coalition" government has been installed in Saigon. But why a "coalition" now that the Viet Cong has been reduced to desperation tactics? Why not turn this emigration business around? Vicente Villamin, a knowledgeable Filipino journalist, reports there are proofs that "the Viet Congs want or could be induced to emigrate to North Vietnam to live under the Communist regime."

Senor Villamin puts his proposition up to H. Ross Perot, the Dallas, Tex., billionaire who wants to do something for American war prisoners in North Vietnam. It would cost about $150 million to move and resettle 200,000 hard-core Viet Cong in places of their own choosing north of the demilitarized zone, or DMZ. This amount is just about equal to the cost to the U.S. of waging war in Vietnam for two days.

H. Ross Perot could probably raise $150 million among his friends. He could demand that the North Vietnamese release the American war prisoners as part of the deal in resettling the Viet Cong where they could live as Communists without having to prey on South Vietnam's labor movement.

Michigan Turkey Rated 'Fair' Game

By JACQUELINE KORONA
LANSING (AP)—The first of an expected 35,000 persons sampled Michigan turkey and trimmings today in Utrecht, The Netherlands.

Occasion for the sampling was the International Food Trade Fair, which opened today and continues through the week, giving growers and processors from many areas a chance to exhibit their products to foreign buyers and consumers.

Michigan's contribution to the fair, at which the state hopes to increase foreign trade for agricultural interests, included almost all anyone needs for a Thanksgiving-type dinner — canned fruits and juices, turkey products, canned cherries and asparagus, honey and honey products.

"There's sampling going on all the time," says Glenn Hawkins, chief of the Michigan Agriculture Department's marketing division. "And 7,000-8,000 bilingual brochures will be passed out to the people."

Hawkins said individual growers and processors selected on a first-come, first-served basis to participate—provide the samples of their product and pay for their shipment to the overseas trade fair.

Each participant — this year five are involved—also pays a "small sum" to the state. It varies from $100-$300, depending on where the fair is and what floor rental and other costs are, Hawkins said, but each year the fee is the same for all participants from Michigan.

The state adds to the funds to pay for brochures and expenses of three department workers who accompany the exhibit. Department staffers sent to The Netherlands are Louis Van Kempen and Rod Nelson of the marketing division and Margaret McCall of the department's information office.

"Our people work to set up displays and provide for sampling and brochures," Hawkins said. "They do everything they can within reason to facilitate sale of Michigan products."

Since Agriculture Department workers are state-employed they cannot negotiate sales and take orders, but Hawkins says that at each previous fair — in Munich, Cologne, London and Tokyo — department personnel received some 100 trade leads and wired the information to those participating.

This year, the situation is slightly different, since industry personnel also accompanied the group. "That," Hawkins says, "is a great step forward."

The bidding:
North East South West
Pass 6♣ 7♣

Opening lead—four of clubs. This fantastic hand was played during the women's championship match between Mexico and Great Britain in the 1964 World Bridge Olympiad.

With Mrs. Odon Duran and Mrs. Enrique Gerard North-South for Mexico, the bidding proceeded in the extraordinary manner shown. The Mexicans were playing the Neapolitan Club and the opening club bid guaranteed at least 17 high-card points.

The British East, not vulnerable, overcalled with two clubs, and Mrs. Gerard indicated a potential slam by cuebidding three clubs. West now tried to jam the bidding by leaping to five clubs, and after North had indicated a balanced hand by passing, East complicated matters still further by bidding six clubs.

Mrs. Gerard's indignant response to these shenanigans was a bid of seven spades—which she proceeded to make! Certainly this contract was not top-drawer, but — with Mrs. Gerard at the helm, and a very kindly smile from Dame Fortune — she succeeded in making the grand slam for a score of 2,210 points.

She won the club lead with the ace, discarding a heart, and drew five rounds of trumps, discarding a heart from dummy. After she then cashed four rounds of diamonds, dummy's remaining cards were the A-8 of hearts and the jack of clubs. In her own hand Mrs. Gerard had the K-10-6 of hearts.

But, on the last diamond lead, poor East had to choose a discard from the J-8-7 of hearts and king of clubs. East had no way of discarding successfully and Mrs. Gerard made all the tricks as a result of the fortuitous squeeze.

When the British North-South pair played the hand, they got to only six spades, making seven in more or less the same way. But the British pair, not having bid the grand slam, lost 750 points on the deal.

'Illiterate' Husband Could Have Dislexia

Dear Ann Landers: I've been reading your column for years hoping someone would write in with my problem. No one has. Please help me — I'm getting desperate.

My husband is 36 years old. He cannot read or write. He can sign his name and address — and that's all.

When he was a child his parents moved a great deal. They were very poor and he missed a lot of school. No-body noticed. I wasn't aware of his illiteracy until after we were married. He used to pretend he left his glasses somewhere and I read things to him before I realized that he could not read.

We have three lovely children and we live in a nice neighborhood. This wonderful man works seven days a week and is considered a fine employee. Unfortunately, he had to pass up many promotions because of his illiteracy. He is ashamed of it and I cannot let anyone know.

I've seen him try to learn while pretending to help the children with their homework, but it is beyond him. It breaks my heart. Finally he agreed to let me teach him but I don't know where to begin. I am not a teacher and he won't go to a school because he is too embarrassed. If you can help me to help this wonderful man, I will be ever grateful. — His Wife

Dear Wife: It could be that your husband has dislexia—a brain disorder not uncommon in people who have reading problems. This can be corrected. Suggest that he get himself tested. (The school principal can direct you.) If he does not have dislexia, go to the first grade teacher and ask her to recommend books and a manual to help you teach him. She need not know the material is for your husband. Good luck and God bless.

Dear Ann Landers: The way the homosexuals are taking over the country, a straight person is considered an oddity. One must look hard and long these days to find a movie or a play that deals with heterosexual love. Love between a man and a woman suddenly seems old-fashioned, out of style, or just plain dull.

And now, I see there's a church out in Hollywood (natch) that has a fairly pastor and a congregation composed of nearly 300 gays and lesbians. (When the word gets around, you won't be able to get into the place.)

The pastor was formerly associated with a church in Tennessee. He was married, divorced and has a son. This pastor was excommunicated because his church does not approve of dancing, movies or wearing jewelry. You can imagine the reaction when they learned he was gay!

This clergyman recently announced that he will "marry" homosexual couples who have lived together for at least six months. He made it clear that these marriages are not legal. "But they are spiritual," he said emphatically and, "emotionally binding."

What do you think of this, Ann. Dare you speak out?— Resident Of The World's Largest Open-Air Lunatic Asylum —Los Angeles

Dear Resident: If homosexuals want to pray as a group, it's all right with me. I'm more concerned about the violent people in our society than those who meet in peaceful assembly to worship.

Ann Landers' best selling book, "Truth Is Stranger," a collection of her best columns over the past 14 years is available in paperback by Bantam for 95¢—wherever paperbacks are sold.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self-addressed and stamped envelope.

People, Events Of Yesteryears

35 Years Ago

Wet snow followed by colder weather last night caught Delta County road crews battling to keep roads open, while forecasts for today told of worse storm conditions brewing.

It was reported from the County Road Commission office that all except the less traveled "back roads" in the county were open. From the U.P. State Highway office in Escanaba came the report that all trunklines were open but icy.

50 Years Ago

Edward Parish, of Houghton, representing the state fire marshal's office, arrived in Escanaba and began an inspection of conditions in this city. The general fire conditions were satisfactory, the majority of business houses being in good condition.

Street Commissioner John Garrity requisitioned the service of the big Holt tractor and snow plow, of the county, for use in plowing out the Ford River road. A big wedge-shaped shovel had been built for the caterpillar tractor in a local plant, but it seemed to have been designed along improper lines and did not exactly do the work that was expected in bucking the drifts, especially where the snow had plenty of power.

Florida Retirement Ends Rock Collection

By JIM FARRELL

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — Dorothy Hays has to get the rocks out of her basement—4030 of them.

She says she'll sell some, give some away, keep a few and start working with smaller rocks. She's reluctant to do it, but after all, how many 20-pound rocks can you keep in a house trailer?

Mrs. Hays, is one of the foremost amateur mineralogists in the country.

Her neat, bright basement workroom houses the collection she has built up over nearly half a century. Its white showcases display the pyrites, jades and geodes about which Mrs. Hays speaks with knowledge acquired over the years.

She is 57, looks several years younger and is married to a successful businessman who is a ham radio bug.

Mr. and Mrs. Hays are soon to leave for Florida, retirement and a new mobile home. The move will mean that Mrs. Hays will have to scale down her hobby drastically. She won't have room for her collection as she does in her present spacious home.

"After work my husband goes to the ham equipment and I come down here to work on my minerals," she says. "We enjoy it very much."

But much more than enjoyment has come out of the hobby of the lady without a college degree.

Representatives of the Smithsonian Institution recently expressed interest in her collection.

And a rock-hunting trip to Canada a few years back gave Mrs. Hays a chance to do something that the geologists for a major mining company had tried and failed.

"We were just poking around an old dump (for "useless" rocks brought up from mine tunnels and I found this," she said, pointing out gray rock speckled with what looked like — and was — gold. "I think the company is mining it commercially now."

But commercial aspects of her interest aren't what catches Mrs. Hays' fancy. "I started when I was 7 or 8 and I've always been more interested in the science aspect of it."

Her scientific interest brought her a four-year stint, 1962-66, analyzing the atomic structure of minerals for the Iowa Highway Commission.

Stock Brokerage Business Is In Bad Way, Financially

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — It is hard to say with whom the blame rests, but the evidence cannot be ignored: The stock brokerage business is in a bad way financially, worse off than most people suspect.

In the first six months of 1969 four of every 10 members of the N.Y. Stock Exchange lost money on commission business. Thirteen firms lost more than $1 million each. And the cumulative loss totaled $58 million.

With evidence such as this, the NYSE now wishes to raise commissions on small orders, claiming that much of the red ink results from handling the 30-and 40-share orders of millions of ordinary Americans.

These are the orders, you'll remember, which were so earnestly sought 10 years ago in advertisements that even called upon one's patriotism: "Own a Share in America," and "Participate in People's Capitalism."

The irony of the proposed rate structure is that it seeks commission increases for handling these small orders in the name of people's capitalism. But won't higher commissions drive away the small investor? No, they say, it will mean a better deal for him.

It is now the awesome job of the NYSE to convince the small investor that it is he, in part, who is responsible for the financial difficulties of these brokers, who just two years ago handed out huge Christmas bonuses.

It is a job for the exchange logicians to tell the small investor that the way to happier days for both him and the brokers is to raise the commissions he pays for services while reducing the fees paid by million-dollar customers.

On a 30-share order of a $40 stock, which is close to an average price on the Big Board, the new schedule calls for a commission of $26.20 instead of $17. The new fee would be 2.18 per cent of the order's value.

On a 100,000 share order for the same stock, worth $4 million, the commission would drop from $23,160 to $16,790, or only 0.42 per cent of the order's value, the reduction representing a volume discount.

But how is this going to help the small investor? The argument is that more and more companies have been ignoring him during the past year, even turning him down flat when he sought to do business, because his orders were profitless.

By raising the commissions, the NYSE argues, brokers will be encouraged to seek out small orders once more instead of limiting their solicitations to the mutual and pension funds, bank trust, endowments and life insurers.

LANSING (AP)—The Department of Natural Resources reports 168 conservation workers worked 333,000 hours and traveled more than 3.3 million miles while on duty last year.

Violation arrests during the year added up to 7,892, a new high. This was 275 above the previous record total in 1968. Officers spent more than 12,000 hours covering cases of rowdiness in state parks, illegal littering and other state land use violations.

U.P. Grant OK'd

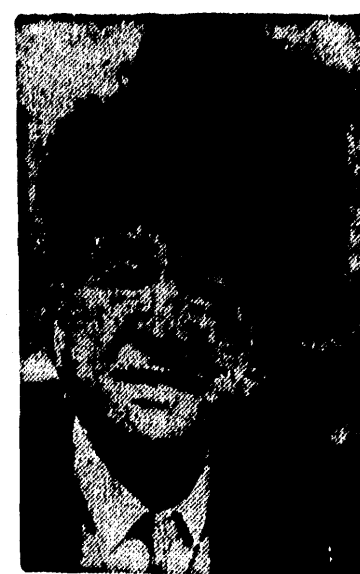

LANSING (AP) — Gov. William Milliken reports the Upper Great Lakes Regional Commission has approved a supplemental grant of $67,300 to Iron River.

This is an addition to a basic grant of $470,000 and a loan of $135,000 from the U.S. Department of Economic Administration. The funds will provide for the construction of water and sewer service to a new industrial park, site improvements and railroad extension.

Some on some days is now done by institutions.

Often prices must be set, rather than arrived at by asking-bidding in the typical fashion of an auction market, which the stock exchange is.

Should this trend continue, the small investor might be forced to buy mutual funds instead of investing directly; the liquidity of the market might dry up, people, capitalism might turn into an oligarchy.

SIR NOEL, NOW — A jaunty Noel Coward leaves Buckingham Palace in London after his investiture by Queen Elizabeth. He is Sir Noel Coward, now, probably the first Coward to achieve the status of knighthood.

Copper Take

LANSING (AP) — Michigan's copper production during the past 125 years reached a total of 12 billion pounds at the end of last year, reports the Department of Natural Resources Geological Survey Division.

Total value of the copper mined in the Upper Peninsula since 1845 was more than $2.26 billion, the division said.

Duster has a bigger engine

Duster's standard 125 hp Six dusters off Maverick's standard engine by 20 big horses. Even beats Maverick's only optional engine by 5. And if you want performance, you can go all the way up to 340 cubic inches with Duster. No Maverick can match that.

Duster has a longer wheelbase

Duster's 108 inch wheelbase is a full 5 inches longer than Maverick's. In overall length, Duster has 9 more inches. Add Duster's extra 352 lbs., and the result is a smoother ride, and more stable handling.

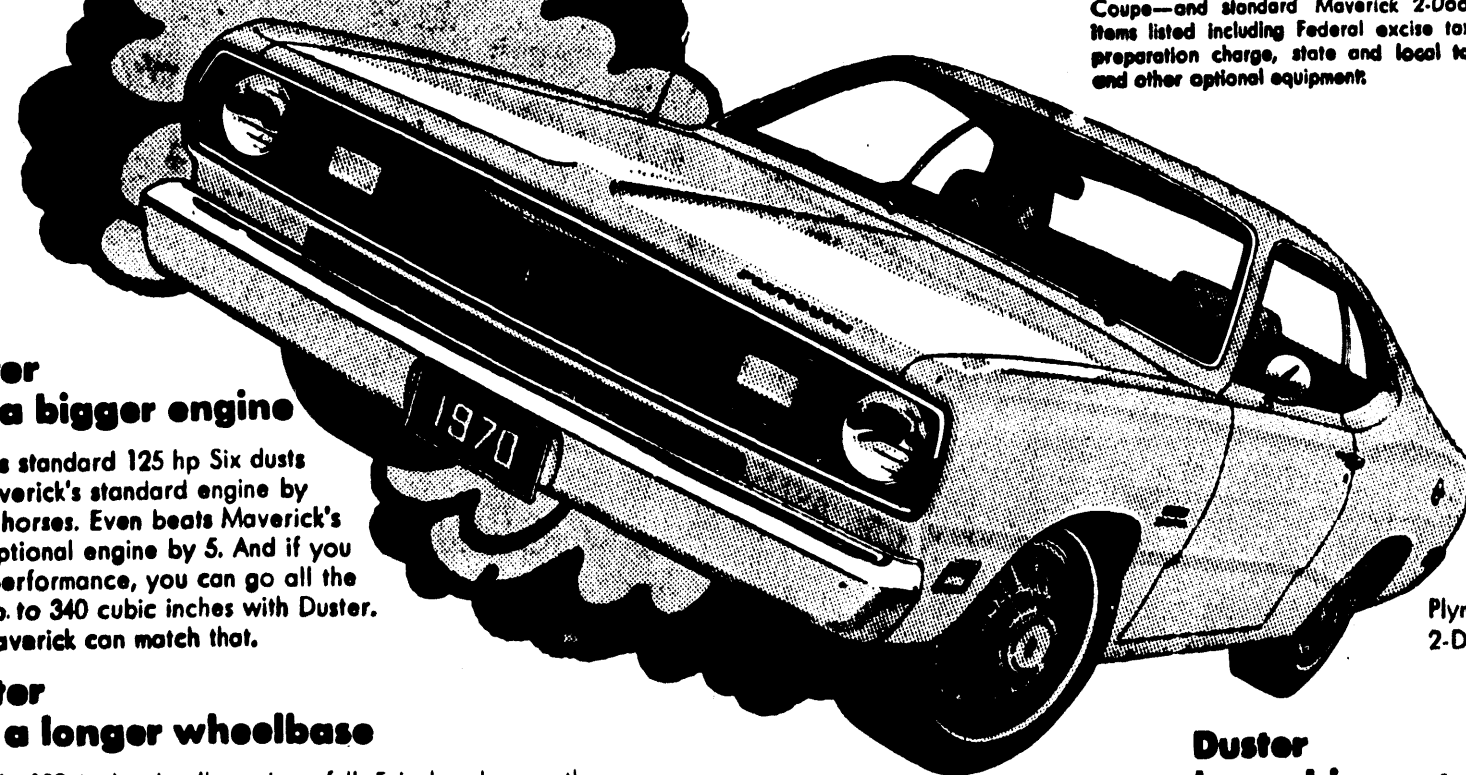

Duster has a 5-year/50,000-mile power train warranty . . . Maverick doesn't.

Chrysler Corporation warrants against defects in materials or workmanship to the first registered owner only, and will repair or replace without charge for parts or labor at any authorized Imperial, Chrysler, Plymouth or Dodge dealership, the engine block, head and all internal engine parts, water pump, intake manifold, transmission case and all internal transmission parts, torque converter, drive shaft, universal joints, rear axle and differential of its 1970 Duster for 5 years or 50,000 miles and all other parts for 12 months or 12,000 miles, whichever occurs first, excluding only tires, normal deterioration due to wear and exposure, normal maintenance services and parts used in connection with such services, repairs required as a result of accident, abuse, negligence, racing, or failure to perform recommended maintenance services. Bigger brakes mean more stopping power, and Duster's got it. Effective brake lining area for Duster: 153.4 sq. inches. For Maverick: only 106.0 inches. And if you like disc brakes or power brakes, Duster offers these too. Maverick doesn't.

Dear Folks:

If you are on a strict diet and eat pineapple and cottage cheese—or even if you aren't on a diet, but just happen to like the combination—don't ever waste the juice of the pineapple.

Put the pineapple on a plate for a salad and POUR that juice in with the cottage cheese and stir it up. That's the greatest.

When poured on a lettuce leaf it is out of this world. Top it with anything. If you are not on a diet, try grated cheese on it. For those who are dieting, just pick up that old bottle of paprika and sprinkle, sprinkle, sprinkle.

Don't forget now, save those juices, including cherry or olive juice. When this is mixed with cottage cheese, you can dump it on anything. The cherry juice makes it reddish.

When you use the pineapple, try adding a few drops of yellow food coloring. You'll have the richest color ever.

So Kiddos, save those syrups, they are great for salads and cottage cheese.

Dear Heloise:

So as I read the papers, I save him a lot of time by marking with a red felt-tipped pen the small items of interest he would probably overlook.

Wakefield Gains Prestige Despite Loss To Gremlins

By JIM TRETHWAY

Even in defeat, Wakefield gained prestige in Upper Peninsula high school Class D basketball circles.

The Cardinals put up the kind of battle U.P. fans expect from a Jim Daniels-coached quintet before bowing to Houghton, 67-65.

The victory, first for Houghton over Wakefield in seven years, was the 14th straight for the all-winning Gremlins, rated No. 1 in state Class C ranks.

Wakefield turns its attention back to the Michigan-Wisconsin Conference race this week, meeting the leading Bessemer Speed Boys at home Friday. If the Cardinals can reverse an earlier two-point setback, the two schools will share the league title.

Bessemer, along with St. Ignace and Norway, is one of the leading contenders for the Class C championship won by Houghton last year. Wakefield is a member of the star-studded Class D field which includes Big Bay de Noc, Powers, Bergland, Champion and Republic.

The Bessemer - Wakefield clash is only one of several "crucial" conference tests around the Peninsula this week.

Escanaba, all alone atop the Great Northern after city rival Holy Name was upset by West Iron, takes on the Crusaders and Wykons. Victory over both would assure the Eskymos a slice of the pennant regardless of what they do in the final game against the champion Menominee Maroons.

Marquette can grab Great Lakes honors if it keeps winning. Because the varied number of games played by league members, neither Ishpeming nor Gladstone — which like Marquette have lost two games apiece — can catch the Redmen if the latter turn in victories over Sault Ste. Marie at home this week and at Manistique next week.

Carney, out of Skyline title consideration, could scramble the race in that circuit when it tackles Powers and Champion, the No. 1 and 2 teams. Carney has one of the taller quintets in the Skyline, but faltered after winning five straight games and now has a 9-6 record.

Outside of several important league battles, the U. P. prep state includes a number of attractive exhibition contests.

Gwynn, looking to share the Land O'Lakes title when it lost a one-point decision to Norway, ends its season with games against three "name" quintets—Ishpeming and Marquette this week at Ironwood on Feb. 27, Ishpeming also plays Ironwood and Menominee will try to make it two in a row over Marinette. The Maroons won in overtime in the first M-M meeting.

The week's U.P. schedule: Tuesday — Escanaba at Holy Name, Gwynn at Ishpeming, Kingsford at Iron Mountain, Hancock at Ontonagon, Engadine at Big Bay de Noc, Powers at Carney, Pellston at DeTour, Eben at Perkins, Ondessagon, Wis., at Ironwood Catholic, Watersmeet at Lake Linden.

Friday — West Iron at Escanaba, Sault Ste. Marie at Marquette, Calumet at Ontonagon, Escanaba Holy Name at Menominee, Newberry at Gladstone, Iron Mountain at Crystal Falls, Hurley, Wis., at Ironwood, Kingsford at Negaunee, Manistique at Munising, Bessemer at Wakefield, Baraga at Hancock, Houghton at L'Anse, Norway at Rapid River, Cedarville at Rudyard, Traverse City, St. Francis at St. Ignace, Bergland at Marquette, Big Bay de Noc at Rock, Eben at Bark River, Brimley at Engadine, Carney at Champion, Channing at Hermansville, Chassell at Dollar Bay, White Pine at Even-Trou Creek, Felch at Pembine, Wis., Lake Linden at Painesdale, Republic at National Mine, Pickford at Sault Lorette, Grand Marais at Tremont.

Saturday — Gwynn at Marquette, Stephenson at Gladstone, Ishpeming at Ironwood, Menominee at Marinette, Wis., Even-Trou Creek at Channing, DeTour at Cheboygan Catholic, Watersmeet at Rock.

Channing Tops Carney Cagers

CARNEY — After falling behind by 11 points in the first quarter of play, the Carney Wolves were never able to completely make up the deficit and wound up dropping a 70-61 decision to Channing in a Skyline Conference basketball game Saturday night.

Carney closed the gap to six points, 31-25, by halftime and came within three, 46-43, at the end of the third period. Channing came back to life in the final frame to outscore the Wolves 24-18 and come up with the victory.

Channing had five players in double figures, led by Mark Smith and John Ferguson with 16 points each, while Mike Burns added 15, Mark Cambray 13 and Dan Olson 10.

John Ferras paced the Carney attack with 24 points and Ed Benson came up with an even 20.

Carney made 24 of 80 attempts from the field and canned on 13 of 20 free throw attempts. Channing clicked on 27 of 54 field goal attempts and was 16 of 20 from the charity stripe. Carney held a 43-30 advantage on the boards.

The Carney junior varsity scored a 65-43 victory in the preliminary game.

Georgia Tech Five Posts Two Upsets On Weekend

By The Associated Press

"Oh, they're the Rambling Wreck from Georgia Tech, da dum . . ."

Yes, and while Georgia Tech was making a wreck of North Carolina, unflappable UCLA continued to waltz away with another college basketball game.

Georgia Tech engineered two major upsets over the weekend, taming fifth-ranked North Carolina State 69-77 and 10th-ranked North Carolina 104-95 on successive nights Friday and Saturday.

The top-ranked Bruins, meanwhile, slammed Washington 101-85 Saturday night for their 20th victory this season and 24th straight dating back to last year.

"This is a better UCLA club than the one in 1964," said Coach Tex Winter of Washington.

Winter referred to the year the Bruins beat Winter's Kansas State team enroute to the NCAA championship.

"This team is better on the offensive boards than the one in 1965," Winter added. "It doesn't penetrate quite as well at the guards, and it's not as good on the press, but the shooting is outstanding."

Second-ranked South Carolina bounced back from last week's defeat by Davidson to stop Duke 82-65. No. 3 Kentucky spilled Florida 110-66; fourth-rated St. Bonaventure repulsed Providence 66-52; North Carolina State beat Clemson 102-84; No. 7 Jacksonville closed New Orleans Loyola 96-75; No. 8 Penn topped Brown 90-75 and No. 9 Florida State squashed Tulane 112-77 in other Top Ten contests Saturday.

UCLA led by only 42-36 at halftime before Henry Bibby, who scored 21 points, and Steve Patterson, 18, started sniping from long range.

The Bruins ran off a 9-2 spurt against the Huskies at the outset of the second half to lock up the Pacific-8 contest.

Rich Yunkus of Georgia Tech, who scored 27 Friday night, came back with 47 points Saturday to tie a Charlotte, N.C., Coliseum record set earlier this year by Louisiana State's Pete Maravich.

North Carolina's comeback try turned into a nightmare in the second half when the Tar Heels' Charlie Scott and Lee Dedmon fouled out with more than 10 minutes left.

The unranked Engineers thus strengthened their hopes of a post-season tournament bid with a 16-7 record.

Hawkeyes Retain Unbeaten Record

CHICAGO (AP)—Iowa's hungry Hawkeyes, averaging a better than 100 points a game in Big Ten play, did it again Saturday night when they felled Michigan State 103-77.

The victory was the eighth without defeat for Iowa which now hits the perils of the road and journeys to Illinois Tuesday and Ohio State Saturday.

John Johnson pumped in 36 points to pace the Hawkeyes who remained abreast of Purdue's defending champion Boilermakers. Purdue kept alive its title hopes with an 83-49 victory over faltering Illinois.

The loss was Illinois' third straight in conference play and dropped the Illini all but out of contention with a 5-3 mark.

Ohio State and Minnesota meanwhile, remained alive with victories to boost their records to 6-3, one notch behind Purdue's 7-2 mark.

Rick Mount whipped in 28 points toward Purdue's victory and set a Big Ten scoring record. Mount boosted his three-season record to 1,259 points and eclipsed the previous conference mark of 1,248 by Terry Dischinger of Purdue for three seasons.

Illinois was a complete disappointment. The Illini fell behind 34-19 at the half and was paced by Rick Howat's 26 points, the only Illini in double figures.

Johnson's 36 points for Iowa barely edged Super Soph Ralph Simpson who hit for 34 for Michigan State. However, it was no contest as the Hawkeyes hit for 53.3 per cent from the field, going over 50 per cent for the 10th straight game.

In the only other game, Wisconsin dumped Michigan 84-74 as Ohio State scored the only away-from-home triumph. Loyd Adams and Al Henry pushed in 24 points each to lead the Wisconsin attack.

While Iowa is at Illinois Tuesday, Wisconsin invades Indiana. Then things will remain calm until Saturday when Iowa journeys to Ohio State while Purdue invades Illinois, Minnesota goes to Michigan, Indiana plays at Michigan State and Wisconsin is at Northwestern.

Wings Lose To Penguins; Former Teammate Shines

By The Associated Press

Former Red Wing Bryan Watson playing for Pittsburgh Sunday night set up two goals for the Penguins which left Detroit behind 4-2 in National Hockey League play.

Watson had only six assists in 37 previous games this season. Gordie Howe scored his 20th goal of the season for Detroit. It marked the 21st straight season the 41-year-old Howe has scored hockey's equivalent of a 300 batting average. Howe also set up a goal for Alex Delvecchio, who was the only other Red Wing to score.

In other NHL play Sunday, New York blanked Montreal 2-0. Philadelphia routed Los Angeles 7-1, Minnesota and St. Louis fought to a 3-3 tie and Chicago beat Toronto 6-4.

In Saturday's games, Detroit beat Montreal 5-2, Toronto edged Philadelphia 4-3, Boston blanked Pittsburgh 3-0, Chicago defeated Minnesota 5-2 and St. Louis nipped Los Angeles 2-1.

As usual, Watson was active at the penalty box, picking up three minors to run his team-leading total to 132. At one point, he went in to help teammate Wally Boyer, involved in a scrap with Ron Harris, but Howe put a headlock on him to end the squabble.

Keith McCreary scored his 15th and 16th goals of the season for the Penguins and in between them, Brian Hextall and Ken Schinkel scored on Watson setups.

The Delvecchio goal, his 12th, was at 2:20 of the first period. Schinkel had half of the ice to himself for his goal. He beat Detroit defenseman Carl Brewer at center ice and Harris, fell down trying to cover.

Howe's goal came at 2:23 of the final period.

Bill Sutherland started Philadelphia's scoring barrage with two goals in the first period. The Flyers got four more in a wild second period by Terry Ball, Simon Nolet, Earl Keiskala and Gary Petters. Jim Johnson ended the Flyers' scoring with 3:21 remaining.

Los Angeles' Eddie Shack tangled with Philadelphia's Larry Hillman early in the first period and Earl Heiskala toward the end of the second. Philadelphia's Gary Dornhoefer and the Kings' Brent Hughes also fought in the second period.

Bill White's 55-foot shot in the second period put the Kings on the board.

Minnesota's Denny Lawson and Terry Crisp of St. Louis exchanged unassisted goals in the final three minutes, with Crisp striking first at 17:08 of the third period. Lawson retaliated for the North Stars 48 seconds later.

The Blues had tied the game 2-2 at 18:28 of the opening period on Red Berenson's unassisted power play goal.

Bobby Hull scored a pair of goals, one while his team was short-handed, to pace Chicago. The victory moved the Black Hawks to within one point of Detroit in the battle for fourth place in the East Division.

Hull's first goal of the night and 24th of the season came at 16:52 of the first period and snapped a 1-1 tie. The Black Hawks put it away on third-period goals by Hull and Stan Mikula.

Ed Demetrak, McLain's former business manager, says the pitcher talked to federal authorities because their investigation "deals with people Demay may have known."

Demetrak said McLain has done nothing illegal.

In 1967, McLain had a 17-16 won-loss record and sat out part of the season — including much of the Tiger's unsuccessful stretch pennant drive — because of a toe injury suffered in a home accident.

In 1968, the year the Tigers won the World Series — McLain won 31 games and won 24 last season.

McLain has received considerable publicity recently because of some financial difficulties.

McLain Mystery Stays Unsolved
DETROIT (AP) — Detroit Tiger pitching ace Denny McLain remained enmeshed in two mysteries Sunday, mysteries which grow deeper with each day that passes.

There is still no explanation, of what "off the field activities" were discussed when McLain, the first pitcher ever to receive the coveted Cy Young award two years running, was called on the carpet Friday by baseball commissioner Bowie Kuhn.

As great a mystery is what has happened to McLain since the Friday meeting. Neither he, nor his wife, nor his lawyer nor business manager can be found — not in Detroit, not in Lakeland, where the Tigers are due to open their spring training camp shortly.

Tiger officials have steadfastly declined to comment on the entire incident.

McLain and his lawyer, William R. Aikens of Cleveland, met with Kuhn to discuss what Kuhn described only as "certain off-the-field activities which occurred in 1967."

McLain is also known to have met last week with James Ritchie, head of a Detroit-based U.S. Justice Department task force handling an investigation of organized crime and gambling. The subject of that meeting is unknown and Ritchie, like McLain and the men around him, has been unavailable for comment.

Ed Demetrak, McLain's former business manager, says the pitcher talked to federal authorities because their investigation "deals with people Demay may have known."

Pollution Experts Give Up Oil Fight

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Pollution experts fighting to keep a 100-square-mile oil slick from spreading have thrown in the towel in their uneven battle against wind and tide.

They now are concentrating on keeping the oil bottled up in Tampa Bay and away from tourist-packed Gulf Coast beaches.

"There's nothing we can do to stop the spread of the oil," Capt. Anthony Fugaro of the Coast Guard said Sunday. "It's just gotten too big for us to handle."

The oil was released when the Greek tanker Delian Apollo ran aground Friday.

Boat owners lined up to haul their oil-coated craft away as the slick poked into public and private marinas.

Michigan Man Faces Hearing On Molestation

DOTHAN, Ala. (AP) — Kenneth Guy Shilts, 42, of Battle Creek, Mich., faces a preliminary hearing this week on a charge of child molestation.

Officers found a notebook in his car which they said contained notes about sexual exploits with young girls across the southern half of the nation. Shilts was arrested Feb. 7. Florida authorities said last Friday that Shilts apparently was cleared in the disappearance of two young girls in Pompano Beach in December. He took a lie detector test Friday. Officers said two first names in the notebook corresponded to the names of the children.

Mexican Pottery Said Dangerous

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mexican pottery and earthenware in U.S. homes and stores could contain enough lead to contaminate the food that is cooked in it, the Food and Drug Administration has announced.

In tests of 28 different samples of Mexican exported cookware, 28 were found to contain lead leached from the glaze. The amounts ranged from traces to significant quantities. The FDA said at least one family has already contracted lead poisoning through continued use of the cookware. The agency is attempting to reach all U.S. importers and distributors to request recall of the products. Customs officials have also been alerted to inspect shipments across the border.

Not all of the potentially dangerous goods carry "Made in Mexico" labels, the FDA said. "It, however, there is a suspicion of its Mexican origin consumers having such pottery or earthenware are urged to discontinue its use with foods immediately . . .," the FDA said.

Piston Cagers Post Second Straight Win

By The Associated Press

"We've figured out how to play together," says the Pistons' Terry Dischinger, after Detroit's 126-119 victory over Chicago Sunday for their second straight National Basketball Association win.

Dischinger hit 11 of 14 shots Sunday and over the last nine games has been firing at a 65 per cent rate.

He, Dave Bing and Jimmy Walker led team scoring before a matinee gathering of 3,616 fans in Cobo Arena.

In other NBA action Sunday, Atlanta tripped Boston 146-125, Philadelphia routed Phoenix 159-125, Los Angeles whipped Milwaukee 98-86 and San Diego crushed Cincinnati 150-123.

On Saturday, New York edged Philadelphia 116-114, Milwaukee beat Boston 127-117, Chicago defeated Los Angeles 116-113 and San Diego pushed past San Francisco 141-123.

In the American Basketball Association Sunday, Washington beat Indiana 120-111, Los Angeles topped Kentucky 121-113, New York defeated Miami 106-100 and Pittsburgh stopped Carolina 120-108.

Dave Bing flipped in 17 of his 38 points in the final quarter for their come-from-behind victory over the Bulls.

He had a personal season high of 13 assists and joined with Walker and Dischinger in rallying the Pistons from a 74-60 deficit in the third period to their victory.

Chicago led 37-36 after one quarter and 63-56 at the half. They were still ahead 83-81 going into the last quarter.

Dischinger wound up with 26 points, marking the fourth time in the last five games he has been over 20, and Walker had 24 points.

Atlanta and Boston both broke records Sunday in the National Basketball Association—but Boston's were the wrong kind.

Lou Hudson scored 36 points to lead Atlanta to a record 146-125 victory over Boston. The 146 points, which included 46-of-64 free throw tries, were the most ever scored in Atlanta's Alexander Memorial Coliseum, and the 64 free throw attempts were a Hawk record.

The contest also featured 68 foul calls. The 36th charged to Boston established another Coliseum record.

Hudson set career highs at the free throw line, where he was successful in 16-of-18 attempts. He also hit on 10-of-18 tries from the field, in helping Atlanta remain one game ahead of Los Angeles in the Western Division.

John Havlicek was high for Boston with 31 points.

Washington collected nine field goals and 18 free throws for Philadelphia as the 76ers equaled their season high of 159 points in a game. Philadelphia scored 159 points against San Diego last Jan. 25.

Phoenix scored the first point of the game for its only lead before skidding to its fourth straight loss.

Darrell Imhoff of the 76ers played his 309th consecutive game Sunday, the longest such streak at present in the NBA.

West, who finished with a game-leading 28 points, capped the Laker comeback by taking a pass deep in the right corner and shooting it over two Buck defenders guarding him. Then he blocked a similar desperation attempt by Milwaukee's Jon McGlocklin, who wound up with 21 points.

Milwaukee led by 12 points midway through the third quarter before Los Angeles found the range. Mel Counts dropped in two 16-footers to knot the score at 92-all with less than three minutes left to play.

San Diego erupted for 47 points in the final period and its 150 points at the expense of Cincinnati was the most in the club's three-year history.

Siu Lantz, with a career-high 36 points, topped the Rockets while Fred Foster led the Royals with 32, 21 in the third period.

Tom Van Arsdale of Cincinnati injured his back in the third quarter when he collided with Lantz and was knocked into the basket support beyond the end line. The extent of the injury was not immediately known.

Frazier, Ellis Battle For Heavyweight Title

NEW YORK (AP) — Gospel singing Jimmy Ellis and Joe Frazier, whose style is hard rock, are set to do their real thing tonight—fight for the heavyweight championship of the world.

Frazier, champion of six states including New York, rules as heavy favorite over Ellis, the World Boxing Association king, for the scheduled 15-round bout at Madison Square Garden.

The Las Vegas price on Frazier is 6-1, while New York boxing circles said it's Frazier 5-1 in man-to-man betting. Little or no wagering has been reported.

"I think he's the champion, so he should be the favorite," says Yank Durham, Frazier's manager.

"I'm not betting money so it makes no difference," says Ellis.

Durham predicts Frazier will win by a knockout but has not named a particular round.

"I don't predict," says Ellis' manager, Angelo Dundee, "but I won't be amazed if Jimmy knocks him out."

The fight is set for 10:30 p.m., EST, following a scheduled 10-round heavyweight bout between Gregorio Peralta of Argentina and unbeaten George Foreman, like Frazier an Olympic champion.

Harry Markson, the Garden's director of boxing, estimates a crowd of 17,000 and a gate of more than $500,000 for the fight scaled from $10 to $100.

All the $10, $20 and $30 tickets have been sold and the show is almost sure to top the $502,518 paid by 16,570 to see Frazier knockout Jerry Quarry in his last fight June 23.

The fifth will be seen in this country only on closed circuit television at 120 locations with more than 500,000 seats. New York and a 90-mile surrounding area will be blacked out, but New York will be included in the radio broadcast over the Mutual Broadcasting System.

It also will be seen via satellite in Hawaii, Puerto Rico, Mexico, South America, parts of Europe and parts of Asia.

Frazier, who won his piece of the title by stopping Buster Mathis in 11 rounds March 4, 1968 has won all 24 of his pro fights, 21 by knockout.

Ellis, a former sparring partner of the deceased Cassius Clay, has won 27, 12 by knockout, and lost five. All of his losses came when he was a middleweight.

He won the WBA crown by outpointing Quarry April 27, 1968, and his last fight was a successful 15-round defense against Floyd Patterson Sept. 14, 1968.

Frazier's fighting style resembles his singing style—he has cut a few records. He is a swarming two-fisted puncher who swarms over his opponent, constantly applying pressure. He's fond of saying, "I'll come out smokin'."

But he can be hit, being decked by Mike Bruce in his second pro fight and twice by Oscar Bonavena. And although Ellis, who sings with his wife in churches, is primarily a boxer, he can hit and hurt. His best punch is a sneak right hand.

Ellis has only been knocked down once, by Rubin "Hurricane" Carter in 1964, and he contends that was a slip.

A referee and two judges, to be named at ringside, will score the fight under the round system. If the rounds are even, they will use a supplementary point system.

The regular rules of the New York State Athletic Commission will be in effect. They will use eight-ounce gloves. The mandatory eight-ounce will be used for all knockdowns and if a fighter is down three times in the same round, the fight will be stopped. If a fighter is down when the bell rings, the count will be continued until he is up on eight, except if it is the 15th round.

Kidd Surprises Self By Winning

VAL GARDENA, Italy (AP) — Billy Kidd surprised even himself in winning the combined title for the United States at the World Ski Championships, in what turned out to be his farewell performance as an amateur.

"I wouldn't have bet a single cent on my gold medal before coming here," he said Sunday.

"The Stowe, Vt., skier who tied for fifth in the downhill, gave the United States its first gold medal in the history of the World Championships and capped its best showing since the 1964 Olympics at Innsbruck. Then he announced the race was his last as an amateur."

"I don't know yet whether I'll turn pro or go to work," he said after clinching the combined title with a 21.25 point total for an easy victory over Patrick Russell of France, who had 50.15.

Kidd was a favorite going into the final race because of his 15th place finish in the giant slalom and third place in the special slalom earlier in the week. It was the second medal for Kidd and the fourth for the U.S. team.

Kidd, wearing a back corset, negotiated the 26 gates in the downhill in 2 minutes, 25.52 seconds, less than one second slower than winner Bernhard Russi of Switzerland who was timed in 2:24.57. While the United States' finish here was a surprise, Kidd's announcement wasn't.

"Everyone knows I have been considering this decision for quite a while," he said. "It is only natural, as I am 26 and I have chronic back trouble. I had to race in the downhill with a corset. It did not bother me too much, but it has edged me out of amateur racing. I just needed another medal today to quit on the winning side."

"After my bronze in the slalom, I was counting on another medal in the downhill. But I used the wrong wax." Kidd's announcement came on the heels of Kiki Cutter's disclosure that she was planning to quit skiing, although she said she might change her mind.

Kidd's decision came at the end of a disappointing season. She had placed fourth in the over-all World Cup standings last year, but was only 16th this year with very few top placings.

Carlos Notches Victory In 300

EAST LANSING (AP) — Olympian John Carlos didn't fare so well in an invitational 60-yard dash at the Michigan State Relays Saturday — but won the 300-yard event to make up for it.

Carlos was beaten in the 60-yard competition by Michigan State sophomore sprinter Herb Washington, who posted a time of :06.1, two-tenths of a second ahead of the Olympics competitor.

Carlos, who holds the world record of :05.9, also was beaten by Ohio State's Jimmy Harris, who finished in :06.2.

But in winning the 300-yard dash, Carlos was clocked at :21.2 at the 220-yard mark. The recognized U.S. record for a flat-track 200 is :21.7 set by Tommy Robinson in 1959, and Jimmy Green of Kentucky in 1968.

Carlos covered the 300-yard distance in :30.3.

Michigan State's 240-yard shuttle hurdle relay team set a new American collegiate record by posting a :28.5 for the event.

The time eclipsed the mark of :28.6 set by Eastern Michigan in 1968. On the Spartan team were Wayne Hartwick, Howard Doughty, John Morrison and Charles Pollard.

Olympian Lee Evans won the invitational 600-yard run in 1:08.9, just off the world record track record of 1:08.7 set the day before in Los Angeles. Bill Wehswen of Michigan State finished second in 1:09.7.

John Jones of the Air Force set a meet record in the two-mile run by posting an 8:51.9. This broke last year's mark of 8:59.2.

Wisconsin's Mike Bond posted a new meet standard for the triple jump with a mark of 46 feet, eight inches. The old mark, set last year, was 47-8.

BLACK TRACKS from automobiles make a crazy pattern on dusty snow near the Chicago & North Western ore terminal. Residents of the Sheridan Rd. area near the terminal telephoned a total of about a dozen complaints about the severe dust problem from the terminal Saturday to city police. (Daily Press Photo)

Area Of City Fumes Over Dust

Threats against railway personnel and complaints to city police against the continuing pollution of a section of north Escanaba by the Chicago & North Western Railway made a dirty situation nastier over the weekend.

Escanaba police received a number of complaints from residents of the affected area and made an investigation on Saturday, beginning at 3:20 p.m.

They found Frank Kobasic of 1412 Sheridan Rd. and other residents on North Western property, where an argument was under way between Kobasic and railway employee George LaCrosse.

Officers told Kobasic and the others to stay off the North Western's private property. The persons gathered there to protest the pollution by the North Western were told by the officers to keep away from the railway workers.

Complaints To Police

Residents of the area told police that there was heavy ore dust and diesel fumes polluting the air and that diesel locomotives also created a noise nuisance. The reports had begun coming in to the police station at 11:50 a.m. Saturday.

The officers reported that Edward Cox, C&NW yardmaster, told them that the dumping of Groveland Mine ore (a fine mixture) contained dust that was carried by the wind into the residential area. There it coated everything — houses, cars and the ground, with a layer of black dust.

Ore Changed

Officers further reported that Cox "immediately called for a deposit exchange in dumping" and the North Western switched to unloading ore from the Empire Mine, which is heavier and does not carry so far.

The report of the investigating police also noted: "An additional complaint was regarding the driftage of diesel smoke from the parked engines in the yards as they are switching. This creates a very pungent odor which enters the houses, and we were told that in some cases causes nausea."

To Consult Attorney

Escanaba City Manager George Harvey today said that he is to confer with City Attorney Robert E. LeMire in connection with the complaints by residents against the North Western.

"I want to consult with the city attorney on whether there is justification for the complaints, and what may be done," said Harvey. "I have also again informed the Chicago & North Western officials of the situation, of which they are, of course, already fully aware."

The C&NW has ordered a study toward the correction of the pollution problem, for which it has been cited by the Michigan Air Pollution Control Commission and ordered to make a progress report on its control plans.

The final plans for control must be ready by March 17.

Eagles Club Cited On Liquor Count

Escanaba police have cited to the Michigan Liquor Control Commission the Eagles Club for serving liquor on Sunday, after officers watched the bartender remove glasses from the bar and wash them before the door was unlocked and they were permitted to enter.

Police said a man yelled "cops" and would not let them into the barroom, but they observed the situation through a glass in the doorway. The incident was at 8:15 p.m. Sunday.

Morin Infant Taken By Death

Julie Ann Morin, six hour old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Morin of Lansing, died Thursday afternoon.

Besides her parents, she is survived by her paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Nap Morin of Escanaba and maternal grandfather, Eric Engman, Escanaba. Burial was in Holy Cross Cemetery.

Briefly Told

Veterans of W.W. I. Barracks 1128 and Auxiliary will meet at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at the VFW Hall. A social hour will follow the business meeting.

Guard Trained In Civil Defense

National Guardsmen of Co. C of the 107 Eng. Bn. stationed at Wells received three hours of civil defense training Sunday from Prof. William Berrell of Michigan Tech University.

Prof. Berrell lectured the guardsmen on the history of the Civil Defense program and how it operates and also showed films, which included a nuclear explosion and the Alaskan earthquake.

Also on Sunday's schedule was a talk by Mason Johnson, Delta County Civil Defense Director, who spoke briefly on the county's Civil Defense program.

Support Off

LONDON (AP) — Support for Enoch Powell's suggestion that colored immigrants be paid to leave Britain has dropped a third in the last two years, the Gallup Poll reported today.

The opinion poll taken for the Daily Telegraph showed about 48 per cent of those polled supported the racial views of the Conservative member of the House of Commons. Two years ago 74 per cent favored him.

Dowding Cited

TUNBRIDGE WELLS, England (AP) — Tributes poured in today to the family of Air Chief Marshal Lord Dowding, the architect of victory in the Battle of Britain.

Lord Dowding, who trained and led the British pilots who drove the Luftwaffe from Britain's skies in 1940, died at his home here Sunday. He was 87.
